Crew of Torpedoed Ship Missing

NO TRACE OF CREW OF THE KINGSTONIAN SUNK BY GERMAN RAIDER

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 10.—The crew of the British freight steamer Kingstorian, missing since Sunday when its members abandoned their ship at the order of the raiding German submarine in the waters off Nantucket shoals, had not been heard from today. Eleven torpedo boat destroyers were despatched to the vicinity of the lightship by Rear Admiral Albert Gleaves to continue the search. No further report of the submarine or submarines which destroyed six steamships Sunday on the trans-Atlantic lane that rounds the lightship came to hand today. There has been no trace of the submersible since its last victim went to the bottom Sunday night.

The search for the missing crew, said to number more than 50 men, was halted yesterday on receipt of reports that some of them had been found. Continued to page seven

NEWS FROM CITY HALL AND COUNCIL MEETING

The municipal council at its regular meeting today passed an ordinance amending the traffic ordinances, making the rules and regulations operative only from 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. instead of all of the 24 hours as originally drawn. A petition for the widening of Branch street was referred to the commission of streets and highways.

On recommendation of the mayor

SERGT. HAGGERTY TELLS OF MOVEMENTS OF CO. M IN NEW MEXICO

Following is another letter from Sergeant Frank J. Haggerty, now with Co. M, which is part of the Massachusetts brigade in New Mexico. He writes of the long hikes and the difficulty of obtaining water in the country passed through.

Evidently Sergt. Haggerty had not heard of the date of departure when he wrote the subjoined letter. There were then only rumors that the troops would soon be ordered home. The letter:

Anthony, New Mexico,
Wednesday, Oct. 4, 1916.

The Lowell Sun.—We are now having a practical demonstration of the army tactics "in the field," and a sample of what we would most likely have to endure were it an invasion of Mexico instead of New Mexico where we are now encamped in the first stage of our 15-day tour. Our orders came Saturday evening and Sunday morning, bright and early, the 10th Provisional Army division, of which the Massachusetts brigade is a part, with its 30,000 men, infantry, cavalry, artillery, ambulance corps, signal corps, engineering corps, supply trains and the other numerous subdivisions of an army in the field, was wending its way through the streets of El Paso northward in hot pursuit of an imaginary brown army which has a base at Raton, New Mexico.

Our first halt was at what is known as the Smelter works, a distance of about eight miles from Cotton. Here we pitched out "pup" tents, and soon the sky was aglow with the reflections of thousands of campfires for the evenings are cool and they furnish our only source of light. By which we read our maps and munched the same.

Early Monday morning while the stars were still glimmering we were awoken by the cries of the mules and shouts of the drivers, calling to one another in the dark, and the rumble of the supply teams pulling out ahead of the main body, and soon after we were rolling up our pack-train and before the sun was up an hour we were on our way again. This time we camped at the Borderland Inn, about three miles from Canutillo, where we did our tour of duty a short time ago. There was one bad feature about the place. The water was full of alkali and tasted like salt water, so that many of the fellows could not drink it.

Severe March
Tuesday morning we arose at 4 o'clock but did not leave the camp grounds until 11:30, as we changed our position to the rear of the column. This march was the worst we have had yet and over a dozen of our men fell out temporarily. They rejoined the company later in the day, however. The march was over all kinds of country and half-made. It was hard work for the men of the boys did not take this alkaline water along, expecting to get some fresh water along the way. In this they were disappointed for the troops ahead had taken about everything or where there was any, it was as much as your life was worth to get to get it with the crowd around it. We reached this place about 5 p.m. having marched about 15 miles, and it did not require a great deal of persuasion on the part of the officers to have the men remain in camp and retire.

ALLIES WANT U.S. TO PUT BAN ON U-BOATS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The text of the memorandum recently sent by the allies to neutral governments respecting the admission of belligerent submarines into neutral waters or ports is as follows:

Text of Note

"In view of the development of submarine navigation and by reason of acts which, in the present circumstances may be unfortunately expected from enemy submarines the allied governments consider it necessary in order not only to safeguard their belligerent rights and liberty of commercial navigation, but to avoid risks of dispute, urge neutral governments to take effective measures, if they have not already done so, with a view to preventing belligerent submarine vessels, whatever the purpose to which they are put from making use of neutral waters, roadsteads and ports."

"In the case of submarine vessels the application of the principles of the law of nations is affected by special and novel conditions. First, by the fact that these vessels can navigate and remain at sea submerged and can thus escape all control and observation; secondly, by the fact that it is impossible to identify them and establish their national character, whether neutral or belligerent, combatant or non-combatant, and to remove the capacity for harm inherent in the nature of such vessels."

Adds to Its Powers

"It may further be said that any place which provides a submarine warship far from its base with an opportunity for rest and replenishment of its supplies, thereby furnishes such addition to its powers that the place becomes, in fact, through the advantages which it gives, a base of naval operations."

"In view of the state of affairs thus existing, the allied governments are of the opinion that submarine vessels should be excluded from the benefits of the rules hitherto recognized by the laws of nations, regarding the administration of vessels of war, or merchant vessels into neutral waters, roadsteads or ports and their soutours in them. Any belligerent submarine entering a neutral port should be detained there."

The allied governments take this opportunity to point out to the neutral powers the grave danger incurred by neutral submarines in the navigation of regions frequented by belligerents."

Private Gillis has earned the title of the "Gungadzin" of the company. Gill managed to get his own canteen and several others filled as often as he wanted.

Cooks Pickford and Donohoe rode with the wagons.

The boys have taken a deep interest in cooking. Every night when they get off the train, going, they visit the "kitchen" and borrow a few potatoes, a small onion, a little bit of salt, a spoonful of sugar, or an ounce of coffee, and they can serve canned "Willie" in 57 varieties.

We were all issued new shoes and socks and heavy underwear so that we are not in need of clothing. In this place you need summer and winter clothing at the same time.

Sergeant Frenette, Bugler Merritt and Privates Callahan, Lynch, Tighe, Malonson, Conley, Louis Ferry and Smith were left behind at Cotton.

Tom Donohoe enjoys the outdoor life and is in the best of health.

The old men were "there" in every sense of the word.

BOY CRUSHED TO DEATH BY ELEVATOR

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—John Kane, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kane, 281 West Third street, South Boston, was crushed to death early last evening by the elevator in the Woolworth store, 417 Broadway, South Boston, where he was employed as an errand boy.

The boy had already carried several bundles and had returned to make the last delivery of the day. He found the front entrance closed and sought to enter the delivery room by way of the freight elevator.

The door leading to the elevator from the sidewalk was found open. He started the elevator upwards, and on the second floor landing in some unknown manner he was caught between the elevator and the outside wall. No outcry was heard by anyone in the store.

About 9 o'clock, John F. Berry, a window trimmer, discovered the body head downward and in a mangled condition. Captain Locke of Ladd's brought a company of men and released the body. Medical Examiner Magrath closed the body and said the boy had been dead about an hour when found. Death was due to internal injuries and a fractured skull.

The boy was a member of St. Vincent's Boys' brigade. The identity of the body was established by the Rev. Father McNeil, who is director of the brigade attached to his church.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A meeting of the members of Loyal Integrity Lodge, 6830, I.O.O.F. M.U., was held last evening in Club Citoyenne-American in Middle street with N. G. Harold Merrill in the chair. A bowling tournament is being organized between the married and unmarried men of the lodge, and Treasurer George Chase has been chosen captain of the married men quintet, while G. M. Lee MacKenzie will head the unmarried men.

Adelbert Ames Camp

At meeting of the members of Gen. Adelbert Ames camp, Spanish War Veterans, which was held in the mayor's reception room at city hall last evening with Commander Alex. D. Mitchell in the chair, letters were received from Amesbury, Lawrence and Haverhill camps to the effect that these organizations will take part in the Columbus day parade to be held in this city on Thursday afternoon. One application for membership was received.

Dirt. S. A. O.M.

Nine applications for membership were received at a meeting of Div. S. A.O.M., which was held last evening in Hibernian hall with President Michael Dunn in the chair. It was voted to receive the action taken last Thursday, whereby it was voted to parade Columbus day, inasmuch as a big portion of the members are to parade with various other organizations. E. J. Flanagan read an interesting report of the deliberations of the past county convention at Natick.

LADY LOOKABOUT

The more I hear and the more I see and read about the activities of women in municipal affairs where the public good is vitally concerned, the more I believe that the men voters who oppose equal suffrage on the ground that woman is incompetent to use the ballot intelligently, either are woefully uninformed or are frauds. I incline to the belief that they are more knaves than fools. Had suffrage been granted to women when, with more or less difference, they first sought it, it is a question whether they would have availed themselves of the privilege to any great extent.

But it has not come easily nor for the asking. They have fought their way to enfranchisement, step by step, and state by state. They have informed themselves on every political and civic question. They have studied history; they have organized in towns, cities, counties, states and nationally; they have been thwarted here, ridiculed there, opposed everywhere. Yet through it all they have survived; their organizations are stronger than ever, they have seen their influence prevail for or against a candidate for political office; they have seen a suffrage plank built into every political platform. Success has come to them in many states. It is coming in all, either by state legislation or national. And the little independent movement started so long ago and which would have died of inanition had equal suffrage been granted at that time, has nourished under opposition, and now even the most rabid opposers reluctantly admit that equal suffrage is inevitable.

Penny Candy Forms
The most popular form for penny candy to take nowadays is cigarettes, cigar pipes and tobacco. Judging from observation of the young purchasers of candy of this kind, all the good old time varieties, butter balls, tutti-frutti, gomdrons, old-fashioned chocolates, peppermints and the rest are a dying on the market, while the not-so-up-to-date youngster who is so far behind the times and so unsophisticated that he buys a baby stick, suffers so much ridicule from his three, four and five year old friends.

The Latest in Hats
The newest hats all flare up from the face and the brims shoot off in points, placing the hair very much in evidence. Almost no felt shapes are to be seen, velvet being the popular material, although the silky Beaver or so-called hatters' plush, is seen in some of the more exclusive models.

All hats are practically untrimmed, a band or bow, or at most a close-lying feather ornament is the extent of trimming.

The ruffles of the summer have disappeared, and with them the pinched-in waist line, which threatened us throughout the season. The present tendency is toward straight lines and low-placed girdles, suggesting the "moyer age" grown so popular a few seasons ago.

The Pickling Season

The season of pickles and preserves is again in the land. The markets shout with it; housekeepers are filled with the enthusiasm of it; homes reek with it; the air screams of it; cellar walls smile with it. Just as in the spring time the tune of the little song sparrow always brings back memories of childhood, so do the odors of steaming spices and vinegar recall scenes long since gone by. And often I wonder why it is that the little song sparrow which long ago used to make me happy and glad when its merry, ecstatic outburst of joy trilled from the orchard, be-speaking spring even though the frost was still deep in the ground, now fills me with loneliness and a longing for something which I cannot name, yet which I seem to have lost.

The same longing, nameless, elusive, accompanies the odors of piccalilli, catsup and chili sauce, and so insistant has it been this fall, that once or twice I almost had it, only the next moment to find it as far off and as vague as ever.

In those days, not so long ago, yet ante-dating the food-chopper, each one in the family gave a hand at canning time. Onions had not only to be peeled by hand, but chopped as well. Many a tear I shed over our old wooden chopping-tray, held uncertainly on my narrow, slanting lap, as I brought the heavy knife down on the unwilling onions—artful dodges that they were—only in the end to have it slip with its reckoning burden, inside down on the floor.

And the mince-meat! Will you ever forget that odor, the most delicious that met our childish nostrils. In those days our only "modern convenience" was an iron apple parer. Three iron prongs impaled the apple and held it in place; a spring pressed a knife against it, and a crank turned it. It was an excellent contrivance for paring a perfect apple, but those of you who were raised on a farm probably know how few perfect apples find their way into the kitchen.

We had two apple-parers, each screwed to the kitchen table, and such names as we children had paring the apples, and how we mangled the fruit! Often the ceiling over our heads was spattered with the bits. If an apple survived the ordeal of being pared, it was a common trick to keep right on paring till the core was reached. Then with head thrown back we gently slid yard after yard of the long, juicy strip down our throats.

I recall hanging over my mother's knee watching the delightful conglomeration of oddly assorted things in that fascinating chopping-tray which gradually evolved into mincemeat, and when one especially inviting tid-bit came to my end of the tray, the hasty thrust of a little finger saved it from the guillotine fate to meet a quicker and surer end in my mouth.

Then I would hear the sad story (how many times I have heard it!) of the naughty little girl who thrust her finger beneath her mother's chopsticks and had it cut off. I used to meditate long on the sin of sloveness which I have since learned betrays others than the young, often to their sorrow, and I fear that the fate of the severed finger interested me far more than that of the little girl who had parted with it.

ANTI-TRUST SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD INTERESTS

HEARINGS ON CHARGE OF ALLEGED MONOPOLY OF ANTHRACITE COAL PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Hearing today of the federal government's antitrust suit against the Reading railroad interests for alleged monopoly of anthracite coal production and transportation launched actual consideration by the supreme court of more than 700 cases on its new term docket. The first opinions, on cases argued at the last term, are set for next Monday.

The Reading case headed a list of specially important litigation advanced for more prompt disposition. The alleged combination is said to have assets of $500,000,000. Following this case a similar suit against the Lehigh Valley railroad and constituent interests is to be heard.

An array of counsel appeared before the court today in the Reading argument. Representing the government were Attorney General Gregory, Solicitor General Todd and Thurlow M. Gordon, Special Assistant Jackson E. Reynolds, Charles E. Hobner, John J. Johnson, Charles E. Miller and Robert de Forest, Charles E. Miller and Robert de Forest, Charles E. OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, caramel, pills act on bowels like pepper acts in nostrils.

Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headache and constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physiques. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at my neighborhood drug store. They work while you sleep.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS DEFEND WILSON AT BIG MEETING IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The crowd which filled Tremont Temple last night at the opening of the democratic campaign cheered repeatedly every mention of the efforts made by President Wilson to maintain an honorable peace in this country.

Wilson has kept us out of war. This was the thought driven home by every speaker. And it was the one accomplishment of the administration mention of which never failed to bring forth the spontaneous applause of the audience.

The meeting was held under the joint auspices of the state committee and the Harvard Democratic club. Every speaker was accorded the Harvard cheer by the students, who packed the centre of the hall. The students marched in a body to the hall.

Cole Appeals to Young Men

Considering that other big events were distracting attention from the campaign, the meeting was entirely creditable, and from the standpoint of enthusiasm, it was one of the best Wilson meetings ever held in this city.

Gen. Charles H. Cole opened the meeting with a stirring appeal to the young men of the country to support Wilson. He told them that the question facing them was whether to support the party controlled by the Old Guard "which stands for the protection of special privileges and private interests, or continue in power the democratic party which has so faithfully carried out its promises to the people."

Secretary of War Baker

For over two hours Secretary of War Baker held the undivided attention of the crowd with his skillful and convincing argument of why the president should be re-elected on the basis of his record.

A fair-sized audience stayed until midnight to hear ex-Mayor Fitzgerald, candidate for the United States senate, and other members of the democratic ticket.

He told of the army and navy programs authorized by congress and said that, when these are carried out, America will be in a strong position to defend itself. How far this country will go in the preparedness line, he declared, would depend on what kind of a peace came out of the present European war.

He pointed out some of the difficulties this country would find itself in in the event of a big foreign war, especially in the making of gunpowder, the basis of which is nitric acid, which is made from saltpeter, imported from Chile. To remedy this situation, he said, congress had made an appropriation of $20,000,000 for a plant.

In addition to being able to get the men and keep them supplied in the field, a nation must have the support of its people, he said.

"In the event of a major war," said the secretary, "we must have a mobilization not only of the troops, but of the manhood and womanhood and childhood of the country. Everyone must do his or her share."

Mr. Baker paid a tribute to the general staff of the army and praised the spirit of the National Guard on the border or in readiness to go there, and said that he had more trouble with the stay-at-homes than he did with the men who volunteered for service.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

The Emerson Players, who are located at the Opera House for the season, are this week presenting a most delightful comedy, entitled "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." The play is simple but good and its presentation by the players is worthy of favorable recognition from the many patrons of this popular house. The attendance at both performances yesterday was large and very appreciative.

The story of the play is woven about the character of "Aunt Mary Watkins," a weather-worn, whose ideas of life have been founded on the happenings in a small country village. "Aunt Mary" has a nephew—a chip off the old block—who, besides giving her many things to worry about, introduces her to that phase of life reflected by the white lights of New York. Her visit to the big city results in her rejuvenation. She's now an elderly woman, but young ideas and her efforts to shake the dull life of the past for the lively times of the future is indeed a reformation. Interwoven in the story is a bit of motherly interest taken by "Aunt Mary" in her charge, and there is a note of a love affair as well, in which

When the mobilization began he found that many of the trained clerks in the war department and other affiliated departments wore in the military, and the only thing for him to do was to excuse them from service as it would have broken down the efficiency of the department to allow them to absent themselves in the field.

Frederick W. Mansfield

Frederick W. Mansfield, democratic candidate for governor, set with a roisteron in his opening speech which indicated that his intention of making the cause of labor the chief issue in the campaign will have the hearty support of the party.

Mr. Mansfield, in a forceful speech, called attention to the fact that no democratic candidate had ever been elected to this state, except with the support of the independent labor vote.

He left no doubt in outlining his campaign but that it was to the independent labor vote that he intended to make his appeal, and upon whom he based his belief. In democratic victory Mr. Mansfield got a fine reception.

He said that there were two accomplishments that stood out in the administration of President Wilson—the fact that he had kept the nation out of war and his championship of the eight-hour bill.

The candidate for governor made a defense of the non-partisanship shown by the president. He said that his support of the eight-hour bill was absolutely non-partisan since the eight-hour day was desired as much by republican workingmen as by democratic workingmen.

If Woodrow Wilson had done no more than stand forth and say that the eight-hour law was the law of humanity and civilization he would be entitled to the support of every American in the land," said Mr. Mansfield.

FITZGERALD RAPS LODGE

Mr. Fitzgerald made a constructive speech, outlining the attitude of the democratic party on the income tax. He characterized the speech made by Senator Lodge at the republican convention Saturday as "fraud," saying:

"His tirade against the levying of an income tax betrays an ignorance of conditions that would not be creditable to the meanest tyro in statesmanship, let alone one with the reputation that Mr. Lodge possesses."

Judge Riley

Judge Thomas P. Riley made a strong speech on Americanism and the need for unity in the country, a need which he said, was just as vital to the future of this country today as it was during the revolution.

Judge Riley said that today "Americanism is not only on the crater of a volcano, a volcano full of a bubbling mass of poisons."

He said that "President Wilson is the inspired leader of the hour and that never in its history did the nation require him more than today."

American patriotism, said the speaker, is not only on the crater of a volcano, a volcano full of a bubbling mass of poisons."

He said that "President Wilson is the inspired leader of the hour and that never in its history did the nation require him more than today."

American patriotism, said the speaker, is not only on the crater of a volcano, a volcano full of a bubbling mass of poisons."

But suddenly the blue of the heaven seemed to beiven. The thunder-bolt of war crashed upon the earth and the world witnessed our vaunted civilization given over to the hell-work of destruction and murder, the boasted culture of the 20th century concentrated upon Hindish designs.

There is no call so powerful as the call to the blood, but when this call came from hell instead of from heaven it was a call that was responded to by the evils of blood and men answered the call not with the joyousness of brotherly love and the eye-gleam of charity, but with a snarl of rage and the glare of hatred.

If the old-world was affected by the democracy of the new world so the new world has been affected in its turn by the blood lust of the old. Today Americanism, which we thought permanent, stands in imminent danger of destruction.

Men are taking their stands and making their judgments in regard to American institutions and considerations from the viewpoints of foreign differences, and Americanism is threatened with disintegration into the weaknesses of its component parts.

BIG INCREASE IN FOREIGN TRADE UNDER WILSON

Edwin F. Sweet, assistant secretary of commerce, has the following article upon the great increase in our foreign trade:

American foreign trade has increased about 75 per cent. during the Wilson administration. There is no longer any disposition to question that fact or to underrate its significance.

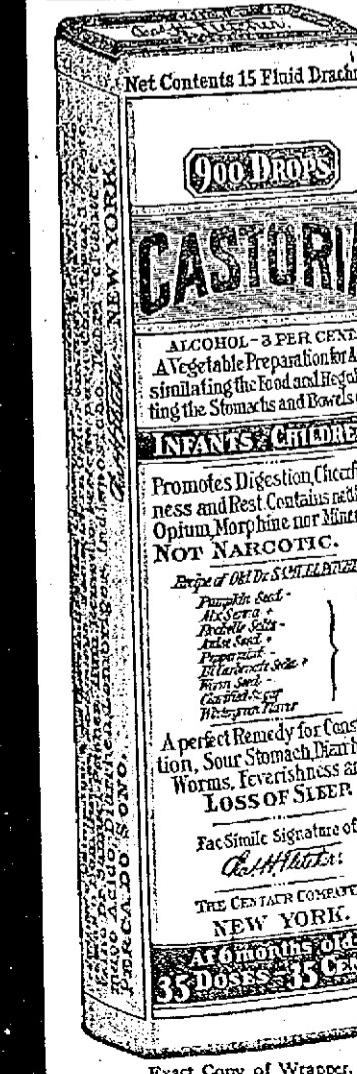

For the fiscal year 1916 our total foreign trade was valued at six and one-half billion dollars—an unprecedented trade for us. It is amazing to think that our exports alone amounted to four and one-third billion dollars. That is a half a billion dollars more than our total trade in 1912 imports and exports combined. What stimulus this has given to our industrial development? What a lasting effect it will have on our manufacturing efficiency! Through this expansion of our trade it may be possible even to reduce prices through greater production.

In some quarters there is a disposition to attribute our increased exports entirely to war demands. That is very unfair. It is unfair to the foreigners who have pushed our trade into new markets. It is unfair to the administration which has furnished so many needed facilities for building up our trade in foreign countries.

We are of course doing a big business in war supplies, but the importance of that business has been overrated. To make it assume the greatest possible proportions, unwarranted liberties have been taken with our classifications of merchandise. Grain, flour, meal, shoes, and many other everyday necessities have been included under the term war supplies. Of course soldiers consume these articles, but they would consume them if they were civilians and not soldiers. We have always furnished Europe with such articles. In fact, the war has cut us off from some of our best markets for such goods.

But our business with markets far removed from the war zone has greatly increased. This is the best kind of new business, because a large share of it can be retained after the war. How much will depend entirely on the way our manufacturers and exporters conduct themselves in the meantime. Our exports to South America during the fiscal year 1916 showed an increase of approximately 36 per cent. over 1914, the year preceding the war. With Africa we did about 50 per cent. more business. To Japan and Asiatic Russia we sold 216 per cent. more goods, although this includes some munitions. Other Asiatic countries bought 17 per cent. more merchandise than in 1914. A 20 per cent. increase is recorded for Australia and other Oceanic countries. Our Canadian exports show a gain of 31 per cent., and to Mexico, the West Indies, and Central America we sold 42 per cent. more goods. The neutral countries increased their purchases from us to the extent of 88 per cent.—a most remarkable gain, and one that cannot be said to be wholly temporary. These neutral countries have been shut off to some extent from the central powers, and they have been unable to purchase some classes of manufactured goods from the allied countries, yet it is safe to say that once accustomed to buy from us, they will not suddenly go back to their former sources of supply. What we do lose there will be made up by sales to the central powers and to Russia. To the belligerent countries themselves our exports increased 38 per cent., and it is probably true that our sales will fall off to some extent there when normal conditions return.

On the whole, the prospects of retaining a large share of our newly gained trade are much brighter now than they were a year ago, and they will continue to brighten the longer the war lasts. The chances of a sudden collapse are more remote now than ever. Whatever changes are to take place will be gradual. I think that is the opinion generally held now by most practical business men who have watched developments carefully. Even our munitions manufacturers are now confident of adapting their plants

Indoor Life Makes Fat

TRY OIL OF KOREN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precautions to guard against over-sedentness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. The use of exercise in the fresh air is said to weaken the oxygen carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat results.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily straining your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any persons who are satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to A. W. Dow & Co., or to any druggist and get a box of oil of koren capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, improved digestion and general health. The old saying "Health brightens and the sick less distasteful in appearance as superfluous fat disappears."

Oil of koren is inexpensive, cannot injure, and helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial.

to meet changed conditions at the declaration of peace.

Our imports have been increasing too, and this fact has occasioned some alarm. It need not, for practically all of the increase has been in raw materials. Before the war Europe did altogether too much of our manufacturing for us. Rubber, silk, wool, fibers, tin, and so on were taken from all parts of the world to European factories and much of the finished product was finally shipped to us. We paid for European labor, we paid dividends on European capital, and we paid for a great deal of unnecessary shipping. The war has obliged us to import the raw materials and finish them in our own factories, and mills. American labor and American capital are the gainers—and they will continue to benefit after the war. The extent of this benefit will depend upon their combined efficiency. In 1912 only 34 per cent. of our imports were raw materials. In 1916 the proportion had increased to 43 per cent. It will increase still further.

We have become the greatest commercial nation in the world. We have stopped borrowing money, and are lending now instead. We have paid off over a billion of our foreign debt. The stability of our prosperity is becoming more assured with the passing of each month. The government has in a fair-speaking manner provided new facilities for carrying on our business abroad. There will be changes when peace is made, but no collapse, no disaster. We can take care of ourselves.

ATTEND NIGHT SCHOOL

Industries and Business Men to Help the United States Bureau to Educate Immigrants

Chambers of commerce in every city where night schools are conducted, have been formally requested by the United States commissioner of education, R. P. Claxton, to co-operate in the "America First" campaign of the bureau of education to increase the school attendance of non-English-speaking immigrants. Officials of the bureau believe the most effective way of impressing the immigrant with the advantages of learning English is through the employer.

In 1910, 6,558,711 foreign-born whites were employed in the various industries and lines of business actively.

Until the war started, this number was added to very greatly by immigration at the rate of a million a year. Over 1,462,134 adult males, most of whom are wage-earners, do not speak English, and consequently are an added problem to industry in the administration and management of plants.

Industrial establishments all over the country last year tended to cooperation in the Americanization movement started by the bureau through the distribution of the "America First" campaign suggestive plans for activity have been prepared by the bureau's division of immigrant education. Among other things, the division calls attention to the fact that several large industries have given a bonus or wage increase to immigrant workmen whose industrial efficiency is increased through learning English in night school.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

American Electric Railway Association is One of Great Business Enterprises of Country

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., October—Grown, since 1888, from an infant with a capital investment of a few hundred thousand dollars, to a giant among the business enterprises of the country with more than six billions of dollars represented in its securities, the electric railway industry will review its program at the 35th annual convention of the American Electric Railway association to be held at Atlantic City, October 9 to 13th.

Frank J. Sprague, who planned and built the first successful trolley line in Richmond, Va., in 1888, is to lead the review of the physical development of electric railways. Mr. Sprague is still in the harness, is a member of the naval advisory board, appointed by President Wilson, and a famous consulting engineer. Participation in the discussion will be given to men who have been on the bring line during all of the various phases of the astounding growth.

Attention is to be paid also to the social and financial aspects of the subject and the discussion as to this side of the development is to be led by A. E. Leach, a New York banker, who has played an important part in the evolution of street car lines, from the short, poorly equipped and isolated lines, a dozen or so of which served each city, into the present great systems covering entire communities with a length of half for a single fare that in some instances reaches as high as 40 miles.

The session at which this discussion will take place is to be presided over by Charles L. Henry of Indianapolis, the association's president, who built the first interurban road in Indiana, and who first christened the lines that connect city and city "Interurban".

The gathering is expected to bring from 4,000 to 5,000 railway men from the United States, Canada, Central and South America.

Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood, U.S.A., and Capt. S. D. Embick, Coast Artillery, U.S.A., are to address the convention on the subject of the part to be played by electric railways in military operations.

The convention is also to listen to the address of Ivy L. Lee, on publicity, using as his text the platform of principles adopted by the association in 1914 in which "full and frank publicity" was laid down as a fundamental principle. Col. F. L. Keay, president of the Kansas City Railway company and one of the leading experts on the appraisal of public service properties, is to speak on the subject of "Valuation."

In all the sessions of the main organization and its affiliated associations for accountants, engineers, claims agents, and transportation and traffic officials, there will be delivered more than 100 addresses and committee reports.

The sessions of the convention will be held on Young's Million Dollar Pier, and in connection therewith, there will be an exhibit of apparatus and supplies that covers nearly 60,000 square feet of floor space and embracing the latest developments in the art.

The association represents 37,000 of the 41,000 miles of electric roads of the United States, and its members collect more than 30 per cent. of the total revenues of nearly $500,000,000 that come to electric carriers. In addition to railway companies, the association has as members, more than 200 manufacturers engaged in turning out electric railway machinery and supplies and some 4000 individuals engaged in the industry.

OUR COAST DEFENCE

The coming of a German submarine belonging to the naval fleet and armed, opens up to this country new problems in coast defence and gives renewed impetus to the agitation for naval preparedness. The problem was precipitated by the coming of the Deutschland, but not until a submarine warship came did the people see its significance. As in the case of the commercial undersea boat, there was no intimation of its coming until it ploughed into an American harbor. If two German ships were able to do this in the midst of a great war and while the greatest fleet in the world was on watch, could they not do it some time when the English fleet may not be engaged in the war? If a freight ship and a fighting submarine could so come, what is there to prevent the coming of a transport and the landing of foreign troops in the still waters of the night? With the great and inadequately protected coast line of the United States, it would not seem difficult for any foreign power to use the new submarine weapon against us in case of war. England, from motives of self-interest, will strive to minimize the present achievement, but it is an important question for American experts to ponder and to meet in the light of modern naval needs.

Great publicity was given last summer to the mobilization of motor boats for submarine chasers, and some did not understand what lay behind it. The timeliness of the scheme may now seem more apparent. We should not wait for war to anticipate the tactics of a possible enemy, and whether against Germany or England or Japan or any other power we should perfect our coast defences so as to meet possible attacks from any quarter. We shall have to take a new interest in the steel nets, coast guns and long range battleships.

The coming of the German submarine will also bring new worries to the allies as it will open up possibilities of unforeseen attacks on allied warships and on freight ships outside of the three mile limit. If some day a Bremen should come convoyed by ships like that which started Newport last Saturday, the cruisers waiting outside the three-mile line will not hold sway unchallenged. What happens there is beyond our jurisdiction provided international law is respected.

News of the sinking of nine vessels by the submarine which put into Newport last Saturday, aided by one or two others, has furnished an unexpected development in the submarine policy of Germany and has brought its naval horrors to our very doors. If Germany perfects the service she will not let the ships of the allies leave our ports and the allies will not let ships into German or other enemy ports. It looks now as though submarine warfare has been resumed on a larger scale than ever and the complications that this country finds itself in are obvious. If German submarines sink only ships of the allies and give sufficient warning and time for passengers and crew to escape, it looks as though the German government can defend the operations of their submarines even in sight of the American coast. Putting aside the chance of trouble with the United States, the development of a German undersea campaign on this side might be more serious for England than submarine operations off the English or French coast. The danger for Germany will be in so interfering with American rights or interests that our government will demand the withdrawal of her submarines from our shores or a modification that would limit their effectiveness.

REGISTER AND VOTE

In every city there are to be found individuals who, through sheer indifference, neglect to register and so must stay away from the polls on election day. They believe to be sure in democracy and will enthuse about the American system but they never apply it to their own peculiar case. Others who are on the voting lists will not make the effort necessary to get their vote on the ballot and yet they are among the inveterate critics of political conditions. It is not a healthy state of affairs when leading men declare in favor of a statute to make voting obligatory, but the suggestion has been made and seriously. A better idea might be to disfranchise those who deliberately stay away from the polling booth for a certain number of elections.

The board of registrars of voters have issued their notice to the people of Lowell that their office will be open this evening and at intervals until Wednesday, Oct. 18, which shall be the last chance to register. All who have not been assessed and who would otherwise have the right to vote at the coming state election should present themselves at city hall and get on the lists while there is time. The vote at the primaries, while better than expected, was not what it ought to have been but this should be corrected on election day. There is absolutely no excuse for an American citizen who so far forgets his duty as to remain away from a intervention still President Wilson held out and now the whole question on which many thousands of lives might have been lost in intervention is being settled peacefully by a commission representing this country and Mexico. This is one of the greatest triumphs of President Wilson's diplomacy.

TALKS TO CHILDREN

A wise observance of fire prevention day is the growing practice of assigning firemen to speak to the children in the various schools of the city. A great many fires are started by the carelessness of the young so the talks have a direct application but still more important is the educational effect. Children are easily impressed by what looks like authority and the sight of a city employee in uniform in the school leaves a strong pleasure in the mind. Moreover, the youngsters will talk the matter over at home and carry into the life of the family a little of what they have learned.

In other cities this idea of bringing civic life home to children is being amplified and excellent results are reported. In sections of New York, for instance, police officers visit the schools occasionally and urge the children to co-operate with them in obeying the laws and keeping the city crimeless. This might be done advantageously everywhere, and if it were done children might look upon the police as friends rather than as something to be shunned and dreaded. In time of special precautions, like that we have just passed through, members of the board of health or city physicians might with advantage visit the schools and give special instructions to the children. While there is some danger that this be overdone, it can scarcely be said that we have as yet reached that point, and the success of the experiment so far recommends its extension.

"Quite right, my dear—quite right! You always have such nice feelings about everything! Besides, I want to tell Mrs. Jansen myself!"

History as It is Wrote

The new battlehip schools instituted by the secretary of the navy have made some startling contributions to literature. Here is an essay of a Filling sailor, who was told to write about George Washington:

"George Washington was sore because American persons is not free. He sail to England on (Gamming) his own battleship ship and say to King, 'I represent declaration of Independence for American persons.' King, he say, 'Nuthin' don't' and Mr. Washington tell Admiral Dewey to shoot turpentine guns at him. Blue-by King he say he'll not rule American persons again. Let George do it," say King, and today American persons is free!"—Pathfinder.

WILSON'S MEXICAN TRIUMPH

The onslaught of the German U-boats off Nantucket brings home to the American people the horrors of war and how easily this country might be drawn into the terrible conflict. The republican orators are making one of their strongest issues out of the fact that this country did not intervene in Mexico. Nevertheless there is no single thing for which the democratic administration deserves more credit than for the policies by which it kept out of war with Mexico. The policy of "watchful waiting" and the fencing with Mexico by which war was avoided and arbitration finally established enabled this nation to maintain the good will of the South American countries and at the same time to remain in a position of readiness to deal with any of the European countries that might transpire upon American rights.

As events progressed we became involved in a controversy with Germany in which that country was forced to yield in face of our actual threat of war. Had we been engaged in a war with Mexico when the Lusitania was sunk, Germany would have paid no attention to our protests knowing that we could not afford to go to war with any European nation while fighting Mexico. What a sorry spectacle we should have been, had our hands been tied with Mexico when the submarine policy was at its worst?

Thus it appears that while we have had considerable trouble with Mexico and while capitalists and faction leaders did all in their power to bring on

HUB POLICE HOLD GIRL OF 12 AS BURGLAR

FELT LIKE A NEW PERSON

After Taking Only One Box of "Fruit-a-tives"

EAST SHIP HARBOUR,

"It is with great pleasure that I write to tell you of the wonderful benefits I have received from taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. For years, I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches, and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicines seemed to help me. Then I finally tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and the effect was splendid. After taking one box, I feel like a new person, to have relief from those siecking headaches".

Mrs. MARTHA DEWOOLFE, 50c, a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

failed to report the matter to the police.

Mrs. MacLeod said that on one occasion her daughter Eleanor was placed under observation at the Psychopathic hospital, but that the officials there stated that they could find nothing wrong with her mental condition.

Mrs. Frank C. Friend of 41 Broadway was responsible for the arrest. She found the girl as the latter was making a search of her parlor shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

When asked why she was there the girl tried to offer an excuse and then became hysterical. Mrs. Friend at once notified the police and Lieut. Kennedy soon arrived at the house.

After questioning the girl the officer took her to the police station. When she was pressed with questions she became hysterical and this made it difficult for the police to get much information. Finally she broke down and consented to point out the houses she had entered.

She indicated the home of Mrs. Lizzie Ayer of 416 Bedford street, Somerville, which was entered Aug. 15. The thief ransacked several rooms of the house and carried away $571, which she found in a bag in one of the rooms. A member of the household was suspected as it was deemed impossible for an outsider to enter the house without the occupants discovering them. The money stolen included four $100 bills.

PRES. WILSON TAKES UP THE U-BOAT QUESTION

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 10.—President Wilson gave his entire attention today to considering facts collected by the navy department regarding German submarine attacks on merchantmen off the American coast. He had intended going to Brooklyn for the third baseball game of the world's series, but changed his plans to devote himself to the foreign affairs of the nation.

The president shut himself in his study this morning and went carefully over all the evidence collected so far. While this evidence was not given out, there was every indication that the president has received no information necessitating drastic action by the American government.

Lensing Confers With President

The president had on his program today conferences with Secretary Lansing and Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States. Mr. Lansing will not come until late this afternoon and will take dinner with the president and remain at Shadow Lawn over night. Ambassador Jusserand has personal letters from President Poincaré of France to Mr. Wilson on Polish relief, but it was expected that the new German submarine activities would be discussed.

Blockade of Our Ports

It was not believed that the American government would take any immediate action on developments to date in the renewal of German submarine activities, but serious consideration was given to the question of whether attacks on merchantmen no near the American coast do not constitute a virtual blockade of American ports.

Gerard to See President

James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, who arrived in New York today from Germany, is not expected to see President Wilson until next week. It was stated authoritatively here that Mr. Gerard does not come on any peace mission and that his trip has no connection with submarine warfare, but that he is simply on a vacation.

Other Conferences

President Wilson plans to leave Shadow Lawn tomorrow afternoon for Indianapolis where he will speak twice on Thursday afternoon. The fact that he had shown no indication of cancelling the Indianapolis engagement was taken as a sign that so far he does not consider the submarine situation critical.

In addition to his diplomatic conference today, the president had an engagement to take lunch with William F. McCombs, democratic nominee for United States senator from New York. Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee, also was expected here for a conference.

The meeting of President Wilson and Mr. McCombs was the first since Mr. Combs refused to accept another term as chairman of the democratic national committee.

GERARD AND BERNSTORFF MEET

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Secretary of State Lansing, James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany, and Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States all were in New York today and the two ambassadors were registered at the same hotel.

The secretary said today in answer to questions as to whether he would confer with other ambassador: "I have no appointments today." There were rumors that Ambassador Gerard might accompany the secretary to Long Branch.

LANSING OFF FOR LONG BRANCH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Secretary Lansing left here last night for New York on his way to the summer White House at Long Branch, N. J., to confer with President Wilson on the submarine raids in the western Atlantic.

It was regarded as possible that Mr. Lansing might see Ambassador Gerard who reached New York this morning from Germany before the ambassador proceeds to report to the president.

Nevertheless it was authoritatively stated here that Secretary Lansing had not made his trip at this time or gone by way of New York because of the ambassador's arrival. He expects to meet Ambassador Gerard at the summer White House, however, and at the conference with the president now

GERARD REFUSES FIGHTING SOUTH OF SOMME TO DISCUSS PEACE TALK

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, upon his arrival here today, declined either to affirm or deny published reports that he was returning to the United States on a peace mission on behalf of the emperor of Germany.

Mr. Gerard, after quickly glancing through this story, said:

"You don't see me quoted anywhere in it, do you?"

Mr. Gerard said in response to a question that there are about 3000 Americans in Germany at this time, of whom about 700 are in Berlin.

The Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII, on which Mr. Gerard arrived, was met at quarantine by a municipal police boat on which was Mayor Mitten's reception committee, headed by Oscar S. Straus. Mrs. Gerard, who accompanied the ambassador, was presented with a large bouquet of American beauty roses as she came aboard the police boat.

FIGHTING SOUTH OF SOMME

bers of the reichstag are in no wise convinced by the arguments against submarine warfare, particularly by the statistical pleas of Dr. Karl Hefter, secretary of the interior. On the other hand, the centrist parliamentary correspondence—the recognized publicity bureau of the centrist reichstag group—declares completely unjustified the announcement of the Lokal Anzeiger that enough clerical deputies have broken away to give a majority perhaps to the side favoring ruthless submarine war.

"We would emphasize," says the bau, "that the centrists' declarations and the attitude of its members in committee are in complete accord. The situation is to be interpreted solely as an aim to define precisely the responsibility of the chancellor before the relishing on the political aspects of the question of ruthless submarine war. The supreme military command and therefore ultimately Field Marshal von Hindenburg is alone competent to pass upon the military side of the entire question. It is wrong, however, to deduce from this attitude of the centrist members of the committee a rapport attachment with that group which demands ruthless submarine warfare under all circumstances."

The bureau says that the centrum is endeavoring to harmonize contending standpoints, feeling that the controversy over the submarine issue, unless terminated, will have lamentable effects on popular sentiment.

THREE RACES
YESTERDAY

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 10.—Mabel Task had an easy time winning the Castleton Cup for 2.07 trotters and scoring her seventh victory of the season over St. Frisco at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association meeting here yesterday. Mabel Task took the race in straight heats.

St. Frisco with Geers driving, divided second and third money.

Geers, after an illness of several weeks because of injuries suffered at Columbus, also drove De Reche, one heat in the Champion Futurity for 4-year-old trotters, but drew after she finished lame. Geers was applauded when he made his first appearance on the track.

The card today looked like a Walter W. Cox program, as he won the first three races and one heat of the fourth.

He captured the first race with Texas Onward Allerton and Winnie Lockhard each winning a heat, however, won the four-year-old champion trotting futurity with Mary Putney after Allie Wattis had taken the first two heats, drove Mabel Task to victory in the Castleton Cup race and was behind Canella that won the second and heat of the unfinished 2.07 pace.

Vogel, carded to start to beat 2.01%, the world's record for three-year-old mares, and Roan Hal to beat 2.05% pacing, did not start because of the weather conditions.

A free-for-all pace worth $1200, with Sing G. Russell, Boy Ben Earl, Roan Hal, Anna Bradford, Brader Direct and Hat Boy entered was announced for Wednesday. The summary:

COOL AT EBBETS FIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The weather for the third game of the world's series is clear and cool. A brisk northwest breeze sent many spectators to Ebbets field wearing overcoats and gloves.

RNK ROCKS WITH CHEERS
WHEN SOX WIN GAME

When Gainer, pitch-hitting for Gardner, made that historic hit that scored speedy Mike McNally from second with the winning run of that memorable 14-inning game yesterday, the Rollaway rink rocked with enthusiasm. Just as that clout was made at Braves field, Boston, the wire connection on the electrical score board at the rink dashed the play. The fans here realized that Boston had made it two straight and the cheer that went up could be heard a great distance from the scene. In fact during the entire game plays were greeted with cheers and yells that made one forget that he was not at the ball ground, so realistic was every detail that the desire to shout became contagious and when the final play was enacted "everybody was doing it." The board is a great success, and this assertion is substantiated by the fact that in the two days over 3000 fans have seen the games at the Rollaway. Today and tomorrow the games will be played in Brooklyn, and hence arrangements have been made to handle a big crowd at the Rollaway. If you want to follow the game and see every play and move-

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Thirty-six thousand enthusiastic fans attended the opening game of the world's series between the Boston American league team and the Brooklyn, champions of the National league, which the former won 6 to 5. In the accompanying illustration are shown: No. 1, Walker of the Red Sox safe at third base; No. 2, Duffy Lewis of the Red Sox reaching third on Scott's sacrifice; No. 3, Marquard and Meyers, battery for the Brooklyn in the opening clash.

13 HITS IN 14 INNINGS

Thirteen hits in a 14 inning game is almost another record. Both pitchers were accorded great support, but in this line the Red Sox team got the edge of their opponents and by numerous remarkable plays held them scoreless for 13 sessions. The Boston club assembled on the field like a staunch machine that was never known to err. It was plainly shown in yesterday's record breaking contest that the Red Sox, known for years to have the best outfit in the league, also possesses an infield comprised of stars. Both the infield and outfield stood behind Ruth, who was pitching the best game of his career and Smith's work was equally as good. Six hits for a total of 10 were made off Ruth against seven calling for 12 bases garnered by the Red Sox during the long course.

At least eight souvenirs were taken away from the park. They were baseball bats that had been knocked into the bleachers or stands.

Umpire Quigley robbed Myers of a hit by a decision at first base that wasn't even close. Ty Cobb and Christy Mathewson, who were again in the press box, laughed when the ump called all out.

Babe Ruth may have pitched better than he did in the first few innings but he never finished stronger. Not a hit was made off him after the eighth inning.

Hooper made a hard effort to reach Myers' home run drive, diving into the air for it but he did not have a chance.

With Lewis on first Gardner hit a hard one to Mowry which deflected to Olson. The latter tossed to Cutshaw and Lewis was called out.

Even had Cutshaw felded Ruth's grounder perfectly instead of juggling it once it is probable that Scott would have scored with the first run.

Scott led his teammates at bat with a triple and a single. Thomas, with a triple and Janvrin's double were other extra base Red Sox hits.

Olson was jeered for interfering with Thomas after the latter's long hit to left which Wheat tried hard to field but failed. Olson stood on the baseline and Thomas ran into him and fell down. He was lucky to get back to second ahead of the ball but Quigley saw the interference and waved the third.

Walker's great throw after handling Miller's single in the eighth held Mowry at third and prevented Brooklyn from taking the lead.

Brooklyn rooters held their breath in the ninth when with none out and Janvrin on third Hoblitzel hit a long fly to Myers. A great throw relieved their suspense, however.

After catching a fly to deep center Wheat made an exhibition throw which was caught by Thomas without moving from his tracks and Tilly was given a great hand.

As the game went into extra innings the fielding of Gardner and Scott proved even more sensational and it was then decided that only another home run would win for Brooklyn.

Dugout made a great running catch of a foul fly in the 11th. It was a catch similar to those Hal Chase used to make.

There were few strike-outs considering the length of the game. Ruth was the only Boston man to fan but he fell twice. Four of the Dodgers batted.

The noise was so loud when Brooklyn was in the field in the 11th that Manager Robinson appealed to the umpires to request the Royal Rooters' band to stop playing. The leader agreed to stop while the teams were in the field but the clapping and cheering from the bleachers was even louder than the band.

Hoblitzel, who is supposed to be weak against southpaws, walked four times yesterday.

DET GAINER WON GAME

Det Gainer was probably the most talked of man in Boston last night. He had a chance to sail into the limelight as a result of one of Carrigan's famous shifts, that have won many games. In the 14th inning Smith temporarily lost the plate in the darkness and passed Hoblitzel. Lewis snared him to second. Then Boss Bill called Jack Gardner, a left handed batter, and sent him to second to run for Hoblitzel. With one and one called Gainer swinging his club against a plate cutter and the sphere sped between Mowry and Olson to left field. With a strike like a deer McNally rounded third base toward home and slid over the plate just ahead of Wheat's throw-in which was by no means per-

CHARLIE SHEPPARD TO
MEET NEW YORK BOXER

Charlie Sheppard, Lowell's sensational featherweight, will meet Kid Sullivan of New York at the Commercial A. C. Hotel, Friday evening, Oct. 20. Sheppard is going like a house fire and his services are in demand throughout New England. In fact many offers have been received by his manager from New York and Halifax. His recent successes have appealed to many matchmakers and the indications are that he will have a busy winter season. His exhibition against Boston last Friday night showed that he possessed considerable gameness and retaliatory power. He was dropped in the first round, but came back strong and by remarkable work piled up enough points in the remaining rounds to win the bout next week and reports that he was never in better condition in his life.

FEATURES OF SOX GREAT
14 INNING VICTORY

(By Sporting Editor of The Sun.)

The marvelous defensive work of the Red Sox champions, recognized by even followers of their rivals as one of the greatest baseball machineries ever put together, loomed up many times in huge proportions yesterday when Boston beat Brooklyn in the longest world's series game ever played. Victory came homeward at the end of the 14th inning just as darkness was about to envelop Braves field, where nearly 40,000 fans for two hours and 45 minutes had watched the most thrilling game in world's series history, if not in the entire history of baseball.

NOTES OF GAME.

Two hours and a half filled with thrilling plays in a world's championship game is worth going miles to see.

The record for a world's series game previous to yesterday was a 13-inning game played between the Cubs and Detroit.

Another inning might have been played but it is doubtful. Darkness was shadowing the field and there was rain in the air. Carrigan undoubtedly made his final shifts figuring that the game would be called.

It was announced during the 14th inning that in the event of a tie the teams would remain in Boston until two games had been decided.

At least eight souvenirs were taken away from the park. They were baseball bats that had been knocked into the bleachers or stands.

Umpire Quigley robbed Myers of a hit by a decision at first base that wasn't even close. Ty Cobb and Christy Mathewson, who were again in the press box, laughed when the ump called all out.

TWO BOYS DYING AFTER COLLISION ON BRIDGE

AUTOIST FLED AFTER RUNNING
DOWN BICYCLE—LADS FOUND
UNCONSCIOUS

NEW BEDFORD, Oct. 10.—Richard Gay of 55 Park street and Charles Jameson of 129 Main street, both about 16 years of age, who were riding a bicycle across the bridge between this city and Fairhaven last night, about 7 o'clock were run down by an automobile and neither is expected to live.

The automobile did not stop. The police are searching for a big touring car with broken headlight, the only description they have to work with.

About 2, Charles Anderson, an expressman, who was driving to his home 19 Cedar street, Fairhaven, discovered the unconscious boys on the bridge. Gay was near the south curbing, and nearby was a wrecked bicycle. Jameson's body was found in the middle of the highway. Anderson stopped an automobile bound to this city and asked the driver to notify the police. The boys were taken to St. Luke's hospital, where it was found that the Gay boy had a fractured leg, and both he and Jameson fractured skulls.

Representative Leon S. Kelly of Fairhaven, who arrived at the scene of the accident on his way to this city about the time the police cars reached there, reported having passed one automobile bound east near the Rogers monument, with one bright headlight burning. The police found considerable broken glass a short distance west of the place where the boys were picked up.

CREW FEARING LINER WILL BE BLOWN UP DEMAND BONUS

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Although she was halted and her papers examined by a German submarine off Nantucket Sunday, the American-Hawaiian liner Kansan, which arrived safely in Boston yesterday from New York, may share an entirely different fate within the next few days, after she leaves this port for St. Nazaire and Genoa, loaded with munitions for the Italian and French governments.

In local shipping circles it is believed that the Kansan was spared by the undersized destroyer because she was bound from one American port to another and was flying the Stars and Stripes, and that the German commander felt that under such circumstances the sinking of the Kansan would involve his country in grave and speedy difficulties with the United States.

Made No Threats
Capt. Smith denied that he heard the German commander remark, "We'll get you when you come out."

"We simply allowed us to proceed," the captain stated.

First Mate Hugo McNamara told a reporter that as he neared the submarine he made out the German flag. He said the conversation on both sides was terse, businesslike and to the point.

The German commander was a young man, smooth shaven, and spoke English. Mate McNamara remained in the Kansan's boat while his papers were examined, and when the task was completed the German commander said:

"You may proceed." He tendered the American officer a tow to his steamer and this was accepted. The U-boat towed the other craft to within a short distance of the Kansan. The U-boat was about 300 feet long, McNamara thought.

After the Kansan had resumed her passage to Boston the radio operator picked up the S.O.S. signal sent out by the sinking West Point. Capt. Smith ordered his vessel turned back to assist the distressed steamer, and a short time later received word that the West Point's crew had been saved.

When reporters boarded the Kansan at the harbor entrance yesterday members of the crew freely expressed the belief that the Kansan was a marked vessel and that an encounter with a German submarine between Boston and St. Nazaire would result in the big freighters destruction.

Crew to Demand Bonus
The members of the crew will make this a basis of a demand for increased wages or a money bonus for risking the perils of German raiders.

The Kansan was scheduled to leave port last night and Capt. Edel

NO TRACE OF CREW OF THE KINGSTONIAN SUNK BY GERMAN RAIDER

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 10.—The crew of the British freight steamer Kingstorian, missing since Sunday when its members abandoned their ship at the order of the raiding German submarine in the waters off Nantucket shoals, had not been heard from today. Eleven torpedo boat destroyers were despatched to the vicinity of the lightship by Rear Admiral Albert Gleaves to continue the search.

No further report of the submarine or submarines which destroyed six steamships Sunday on the trans-Atlantic lane that rounds the lightship came to hand today. There has been no trace of the submersible since its last victim went to the bottom Sunday night.

The search for the missing crew, said to number more than 50 men, was halted yesterday on receipt of reports that some of them had been found.

DEPORTATION DELAYED

Immigration Authorities Will Not Send Deported Aliens Into Possible Danger

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Deportation of aliens from any of the Atlantic and Gulf immigration stations was suspended today by Assistant Secretary Post of the department of labor, because of the submarine danger.

It was explained that the immigration authorities did not care to take the moral responsibility of sending deported aliens into possible danger.

Mr. Baker spoke in favor of the petition and said the proposed street would be of inestimable value. He told of buildings proposed to be erected there and said the petitioners were willing to give the land more than 4000 feet gratis, to the city, and to share the expense of bringing it to grade.

A representative of the Bay State Cotton corporation said the company was looking for some sort of avenue that will allow help and teams to pass through. He said it would be of great convenience, not only to the company, but the public in general.

Mrs. Martha A. A. A. was opposed to the petition. She said it would spoil her building lot and destroy her fruit trees.

George S. Gilman said the street would be a good thing for the cotton corporation and would improve Mr. Baker's land. Personally, he said, he had no objections to make.

Mr. Morse asked Mrs. White if she would be willing to be compensated for her land and she said she would if the price was a fair one.

U. S. REFUSES TO DENY USE OF HARBORS TO SUBMARINES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The United States has refused to accept the contention of the entente allies urging that neutrals deny the use of their harbors to all submarines, whether merchantmen or warships. Counsellor Polk of the state department announced to-day.

The allied governments in a memorandum to neutrals called attention to the "grave danger incurred by neutral submarines in the navigation of regions frequented by belligerent submarines." Counsellor Polk announced the department's position, but refused to discuss the reasons for it. The American reply will not be made public before the return of Secretary Lansing tomorrow or Thursday.

The allies claim that submarines are ready to collect damages however, probably would be vigorously opposed as this government holds that a warship has a right to enter a neutral harbor and that the U.S.S. in no way attempted to make Newport a base.

Any attempt to collect damages however, probably would be vigorously opposed as this government holds that a warship has a right to enter a neutral harbor and that the U.S.S. in no way attempted to make Newport a base.

The American reply will not be made public before the return of Secretary Lansing tomorrow or Thursday.

The allies claim that submarines are ready to collect damages however, probably would be vigorously opposed as this government holds that a warship has a right to enter a neutral harbor and that the U.S.S. in no way attempted to make Newport a base.

SERGT. HAGGERTY TELLS OF MOVEMENTS OF CO. M IN NEW MEXICO

Following is another letter from Sergeant Frank J. Haggerty, now with Co. M, which is part of the Massachusetts brigade in New Mexico. He writes of the long hikes and the difficulty of obtaining water in the country passed through.

Evidently Sgt. Haggerty had not heard of the date of departure when he wrote the subjoined letter. There were then only rumors that the troops would soon be ordered home. The letter:

Anthony, New Mexico,
Wednesday, Oct. 4, 1916.

The Lowell Sun. We are now having a practical demonstration of the army term, "in the field," and a sample of what we would most likely have to encounter were it an invasion of Mexico instead of New Mexico where we are now encamped in the first stage of our 15 day tour. Our orders came Saturday evening and Sunday morning, bright and early, the 10th provisional division of which, the Massachusetts brigade is part, with its 30,000 men, infantry, cavalry, artillery, ambulance corps, engineering corps, supply trains and the other numerous subdivisions of an army in the field, was wading its way through the streets of El Paso northward in hot pursuit of an imaginary brown army which has a base at Raton, New Mexico.

Our first halt was at what is known as the Smelter works, a distance of about eight miles from Cotton. Here we pitched our "pup" tents, and soon the sky was aglow with the reflections of thousands of campfires for the evenings are cool and they furnish our only source of light by which we read our mail and answer the same.

Early Monday morning, while the stars were still illuminating, we were awakened by the cries of the mules and shouts of the drivers, calling to one another in the dark, and the rumble of the supply teams pulling out ahead of the main body, and soon after we were rolling up our own packs and before the sun was up, an hour later, we were on our way again. This time we camped at the Boron and Inn, about two miles from Cuauilla, where we'd been on duty a short time ago. There was one bad feature about the place. The water was full of alkali and tasted like salt water, so that many of the fellows could not drink it.

Severe March.

Tuesday morning we arose at 4 o'clock and did not leave the camp grounds until 11:30, as we changed our route to the rear of the column. This march was the worst we have had yet and over a dozen of our men fell out temporarily. They rejoined the company later in the day, however. The march was over all kinds of country and what made it hard was the fact that many of the men did not take this all the water along, expecting to get some fresh water along the way. In this they were disappointed for the troops ahead had taken about everything or where there was any, it was as much as your life was worth to try to get it with the crowd around it. We reached this place about 6 p.m., having covered about 15 miles, and did not require a great deal of persuasion on the part of the officers to have the men remain in camp and retire early. Many didn't even take the trouble to pitch their tents, but rolled up in their blankets and slept on the sand.

There were two things, however, that have been a great comfort to us so far—one is, we have had a fairly good breeze every day on the march, and the other, we have been following the river and have been able to take a swim after each day's hike. This swim is something we look forward to and we feel able to go as far again after it.

Today we are to be inspected by General Morton, commander of the division, and tomorrow we resume our march with Fabens as our objective, another 15 miles. But the water at this place is good, and we will be prepared for it. We have been issued blank ammunition and we expect to encounter "resistance" when we near Raton. Nevertheless, our courage is wonderful.

Going Home Rumors.

This maneuver will at least give our minds a rest on "going home" rumors, but that is probably why we haven't been sent before.

The Pennsylvania troops leave today, having finished a four-day maneuver last week.

Sgt. Smith and Artilleryman Wayne slept while we walked. They went with the supply wagons.

"Big Joe" Rhoads stuck pretty good for a big man. The fellows expected to leave Joe behind within a mile of Cuauilla.

Bill Quinn had a hard time keeping with the company going through Cuauilla.

Never again will we complain about our city water.

Menu for the week: Breakfast, hardtack, canned "Willie" coffee. Dinner, canned "Willie," hardtack, water (sometimes). Supper, coffee, canned "Willie" and hardtack.

Private Gillis has earned the title of the "Gungadie" of the company. Gillis managed to get his own canteen and several others filled as often as he wanted.

Cooks Blackford and Donohoe rode with the wagons.

The boys have taken a deep interest in cooking. Every night when they get their fires going, they visit the "kitchen" and borrow a few potatoes, a small onion, a little bit of salt, a spoonful of sugar, an ounce of coffee, and they can serve canned "Willie" in 57 varieties.

We were all issued new shoes and socks and new underwear so that we aren't in need of clothing. In this you'll need summer and winter clothing at the same time.

Sgt. Froneite, Bugler Merritt and Privates Callahan, Lyne, Tighe, Malensen, Conley, Louis Perry and Smith were left behind at Cotton.

Tom Donohoe enjoys the outdoors life and is in the best of health.

The old men were "thero" in every sense of the word.

Haggerty.

ALLIES WANT U.S. TO PUT BAN ON U-BOATS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The text of the memorandum recently sent by the allies to neutral governments respecting the admission of belligerent submarines into neutral waters or ports is as follows:

Text of Note

"In view of the development of submarine navigation and by reason of acts which, in the present circumstances may be unfortunately expected from enemy submarines the allied governments consider it necessary, in order not only to safeguard their belligerent rights and liberty of commercial navigation, but to avoid risks of dispute, urge neutral governments to take effective measures, if they have not already done so, with a view to preventing belligerent submarine vessels, whatever the purpose to which they are put, from making use of neutral waters, roadsleads and ports.

"In the case of submarine vessels the application of the principles of the law of nations is affected by special and novel conditions: First, by the fact that these vessels can navigate and remain at sea submerged and can thus escape all control and observation; second, by the fact that it is impossible to identify them and establish their national character, whether neutral or belligerent, combatant or non-combatant, and to remove the capacity for harm inherent in the nature of such vessels."

Adds to Its Powers

"It may further be said that any place which provides a submarine warship far from its base with an opportunity for rest and replenishment of its supplies, thereby furnishes such addition to its powers that the place becomes, in fact, through the advantages which it gives, a base of naval operations.

"In view of the state of affairs thus existing, the allied governments are of the opinion that submarine vessels should be excluded from the benefits of the rules hitherto recognized by the laws of nations, regarding the administration of vessels of war, or merchant vessels into neutral waters, roadsleads or ports and their sojourn in them. Any belligerent submarine entering a neutral port should be detained there.

"The allied governments take this opportunity to point out to the neutral powers the grave danger incurred by neutral submarines in the navigation of regions frequented by belligerent submarines."

BOY CRUSHED TO DEATH BY ELEVATOR

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—John Kane, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kane, 281 West Third street, South Boston, was crushed to death yesterday evening by the elevator in the Woolworth store, 417 Broadway, South Boston, where he was employed as an errand boy.

The boy had already carried several bundles and had returned to make the last delivery of the day. It found the front entrance closed and sought to reach the delivery room by way of the freight elevator.

The door leading to the elevator from the sidewalk was found open. He started the elevator upwards, and on the second floor landing in some unknown manner he was caught between the elevator and the outside wall. No outcry was heard by anyone in the store.

About 9 o'clock, John F. Berry, a window trimmer, discovered the body hanging downward and in a mangled condition. Captain Locke of Laddie 5 brought a company of men and released the body. Medical Examiner Magrath viewed the body and said the boy had died about an hour when found. Death was due to internal injuries and a fractured skull.

The boy was a member of St. Vincent's Boys' brigade. The identity of the body was established by the Rev. Father McNeil, who is director of the brigade attached to his church.

LADY LOOKABOUT

The more I hear and the more I see, and read about the activities of women in municipal affairs where the public good is vitally concerned, the more I believe that the men voters who oppose equal suffrage on the ground that woman is incompetent to use the ballot intelligently, either are woefully uninformed or are frauds. I incline to the belief that they are more knaves than fools. Had suffrage been granted to women when, with more or less difficulty, they first sought it, it is a question whether they would have availed themselves of the privilege to any great extent.

But it has not come easily nor for this asking. They have fought their way to enfranchisement, step by step, and state by state. They have informed themselves on every political and civic question. They have studied history, they have organized in towns, cities, counties, states and nationally; they have been thwarted here, ridiculed there, opposed everywhere. Yet through it all they have survived; their organizations are stronger than ever, they have seen their influence prevail for or against a candidate for political office; they have seen a suffrage plank built into every political platform. Success is coming in all, either by state legislation national. And the little independent movement started so long ago and which would have died of inaction had equal suffrage been granted at that time, has flourished under opposition, and now even the most rabid opponents reluctantly admit that equal suffrage is inevitable.

Dr. Hugo M. Smith, in the service of the government, has done wonderful work in trying to popularize this fish, but I doubt if its popularity is to be permanent. In fact, it is not popular at all, but a sort of false demand in response to wide advertising.

The latest Saturday Evening Post contains an article on it, and according to the article, the fish is already an accepted article of food.

Personal experience with this new adjunct to fish markets compels me to take exception. The wholesale advertising given to this fish made me curious to sample it, so I purchased some and had it fried like cod or haddock. After two or three experiments, I gave it up. There is an absence of firmness about the flesh which distinguishes it from the two previously mentioned varieties, and while the flavor was strongly "fishy," it was not a distinguishing flavor. In fact, it was flavorless.

Two or three dealers whom I have spoken to about the fish have told me of the difficulty they have had in keeping it in a fresh state, and one hinted darkly at a close relationship with the dog-fish, a sort of shark often known to be man-eating.

Dr. Hugo M. Smith, in the service of the government, has done wonderful work in trying to popularize this fish, but I doubt if its popularity is to be permanent. In fact, it is not popular at all, but a sort of false demand in response to wide advertising.

The Latest Hats

The newest hats all flare up from the face and the brims shoot off in points, placing the hair very much in evidence. Almost no felt shapes are to be seen, velvet being the popular material, although the silky Beaver or so-called batters' plush, is seen in some of the more exclusive models.

All hats are practically untrimmed, a band or bow, or at most a close-lying feather ornament is the extent of trimming.

The ruffles of the summer have disappeared, and with them the pinched in waist line which threatened us throughout the season. The present tendency is toward straight lines and low-placed girdles, suggesting the "moyen age" grown so popular a few seasons ago.

which charm andadden with their memories of old days, and the elusive something I cannot name, yet which I have lost.

ANTI-TRUST SUIT AGAINST RAILROAD INTERESTS

HEARINGS ON CHARGE OF ALLEGED MONOPOLY OF ANTHRACITE COAL PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Hearing to day of the federal government's anti-trust suit against the Reading railroad interests for alleged monopoly of anthracite coal production advanced for more prompt disposition. The alleged combination is said to have assets of $300,000,000. Following this, a similar suit against the Lehigh Valley railroad and constituent interests is to be heard.

An array of counsel appeared before the court today in the Reading arguments. Representing the government were Attorney General Gregory, Assistant Attorney General Tamm and Thurlow M. Gordon, Special Assistant Jackson E. Reynolds, Charles E. Miller and Robert de Forest, Charles E. Miller and Robert de Forest defended the Reading interests.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, calomel, pills act on bowels like pepper acts in nostrils.

Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headache and constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to add weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physicals. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at my neighborhood drug store. They work while you sleep.

Don't Suffer Longer

and allow yourself to become grouchy, upset, nervous and depressed. These conditions usually indicate a disordered digestive system, which, if neglected, may be hard to remedy. Remove the disturbing element and put your digestive organs in good working order by taking

BEECHAM'S PILLS

They gently stimulate the liver, act on the bowels, tone the stomach—purify the blood and regulate the system. These benefits are particularly marked by women at such times when nature makes special demands upon their vitality. They act promptly and safely.

BIG INCREASE IN FOREIGN TRADE UNDER WILSON

Edwin P. Sweet, assistant secretary of commerce, has the following article upon the great increase in our foreign trade:

American foreign trade has increased about 75 per cent during the Wilson administration. There is no longer any disposition to question that fact or to underrate its significance.

For the fiscal year 1916 our total foreign trade was valued at six and one-half billion dollars—an unprecedented trade for us. It is amazing to think that our exports alone amounted to four and one-third billion dollars. That is a half a billion dollars more than our total trade in 1912, imports and exports combined. What an impetus this has given to our industrial development! What a lasting effect it will have on our manufacturing efficiency! Through this expansion of our trade it may be possible even to reduce prices through greater produc-

In some quarters there is a disposition to attribute our increased exports entirely to war demands. That is very unfair. It is unfair to the foresighted men who have pushed our trade into new markets. It is unfair to the administration which has furnished so many needed facilities for building up our trade in foreign countries.

We are of course doing a big business in war supplies, but the importance of that business has been overrated. To make it assume the greatest possible proportions, unwarranted figures have been taken with our classifications of merchandise. Grain, flour, meat, shoes, and many other everyday necessities have been included under the term war supplies. Of course soldiers consume these articles, but they would consume them if they were civilians and not soldiers. We have always furnished Europe with such articles. In fact, the war has cut us off from some of our best markets for such goods.

Put our business with markets far removed from the war zone has greatly increased. This is the best kind of new business, because a large share of it can be retained after the war. How much will depend entirely on the way our manufacturers and exporters conduct themselves in the meantime. Our exports to South America during the fiscal year 1916 showed an increase of approximately 36 per cent over 1914, the year preceding the war. With Africa we did about 50 per cent more business. To Japan and Asiatic Russia we sold 240 per cent more goods, although this includes some munitions. Other Asiatic countries bought 17 per cent more merchandise than in 1914. A 20 per cent increase is recorded for Australia and other Oceanic countries. Our Canadian exports show a gain of 31 per cent, and to Mexico, the West Indies, and Central America we sold 42 per cent more goods. The neutral countries increased their purchases from us to the extent of 88 per cent—a most remarkable gain, and one that cannot be said to be wholly temporary. These neutral countries have been shut off to some extent from the central powers, and they have been unable to purchase some classes of manufactured goods from the allied countries, yet it is safe to say that once accustomed to buy from us, they will not suddenly go back to their former sources of supply. What we do lose there will be made up by sales to the central powers and to Russia. To the belligerent countries themselves our exports increased 33 per cent, and it is probably true that our sales will fall off to some extent when normal conditions return.

On the whole, the prospects of retaining a large share of our newly gained trade are much brighter now than they were a year ago, and they will continue to brighten the longer the war lasts. The chances of a sudden collapse are more remote now than ever. Whatever changes are to take place will be gradual. I think that is the opinion generally held now by most practical business men who have watched developments carefully. Even our munitions manufacturers are now confident of adapting their plants to the needs of the war.

To meet changed conditions at the declaration of peace.

Our imports have been increasing too, and this fact has occasioned some alarm. It need not, for practically all of the increase has been in raw materials. Before the war Europe had altogether two-thirds of our manufacturing for us. Rubber, silk, wool, fibers, etc., and so on were taken from all parts of the world to European factories and much of the finished product was finally shipped to us. We paid for European labor, we paid dividends on European capital, and we paid for a great deal of unnecessary shipping. The war has obliged us to import the raw materials and finish them in our own factories and mills. American labor and American capital are the givers—and they will continue to benefit after the war. The extent of this benefit will depend upon their continued efficiency. In 1912 only 33 per cent of our imports were raw materials. In 1916 the proportion had increased to 43 per cent. It will increase still further.

We have become the greatest commercial nation in the world. We have stopped borrowing money, and are lending now instead. We have paid off over a billion of our foreign debt. The stability of our prosperity is becoming more assured with the passing of each month. The government has in a far-seeing manner provided new facilities for carrying on our business abroad. There will be changes when peace is made, but no collapse, no disaster. We can take care of ourselves.

ATTEND NIGHT SCHOOL

Industries and Business Men to Help the United States Bureau to Educate Immigrants

Chambers of commerce in every city where night schools are conducted, have been formally requested by the United States commissioner of education, P. P. Claxton, to co-operate in the "America First" campaign of the bureau of education to increase the school attendance of non-English-speaking immigrants. Officials of the bureau believe the most effective way of impressing the immigrant with the advantages of learning English is through the employment of native teachers.

In 1916, 6,633,111 foreign-born whites were employed in the various industries and mines of business activity. With the war started, this number was added to very greatly by immigration at the rate of a million a year. Over 1,622,134 adult males, most of whom are wage-earners, do not speak English, and consequently are an added problem to industry in the administration and management of plants. Industrial establishments all over the country last year tendered co-operation in the Americanization movement started by the bureau through the distribution of the "America First" posters. Many manufacturing plants reported increased efficiency in their immigrant employees when the latter had learned English. Others submitted figures tending to show decrease in accidents among those learning the language. One large mining company produced diagrams and data showing gradually increased wages to immigrant girls who were making themselves literate by attending school in this establishment, which is located in New York city, classes in English, civics, health, etc., were maintained at annex to a public school. Still other plants, maintaining classes in English, found the cost of supervising immigrant workers considerably reduced by the elimination of interpreters.

On account of this direct benefit to the industry and workingmen derived through the "America First" movement, several prominent representatives of chambers of commerce, industry and labor unions have been appointed members of the immigrant committee of one hundred recently announced by Commissioner Claxton. The men are peculiarly fitted by experience and ability to serve as members of the committee on Americanization of the United States chamber of commerce. He has been identified as an officer for several years with a number of organizations interested in

TRY OIL OF KOREN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise of the body is said to weaken the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight, you are daily depleting your reserves of strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any persons who are satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to A. W. Dow's & Co., or any good druggist, and get a box of oil of Koren capsules, and take one after each meal, and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, improved digestion and a return of the old energy's footsteps become lighter and the skin less fatigued and appearance as superfluous fat disappears.

Oil of Koren is inexpensive, cannot injure, and helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial.

the education and welfare of immigrants. Mr. Trumbull is also chairman of the railways advisory board. Mr. John Mitchell, now chairman of the New York state industrial commission, has been for several years one of the country's most prominent labor leaders. Mr. Bernard R. Wall, an influential member of the Boston board of commerce, was chairman of the former Massachusetts commission of immigration appointed to investigate conditions of immigrants in that state. Mr. H. W. Hoyt, vice president of the Great Lakes Engineering works, is chairman of the committee on education of the Detroit board of commerce, which is now in the midst of its second city-wide Americanization campaign by industries. The campaign begun last year by Detroit increased the attendance of immigrants in night schools 100 per cent. Other labor officials are Mrs. Samuel Seaman, manager of the state Industrial board of Pennsylvania women; Mr. David C. Adio, secretary of the committee on Americanization, Minneapolis City Council and Commerce association; and Mr. H. A. Meldrum, chairman of the committee on education of the Buffalo chamber of commerce.

To enable chambers of commerce and industrial establishments to co-operate effectively in the "America First" campaign, suggestive plans for activity will be prepared by the bureau's division of immigrant education. Among other things, the division calls attention to the fact that several large industries have given a bonus or wage increase to immigrant workmen whose industrial efficiency is increased through learning English in night school.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

American Electric Railway Association is One of Great Business Enterprises of Country

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., October—Grown, since 1888, from an infant with a capital investment of a few hundred thousand dollars, to a giant among the business enterprises of the country with more than six billions of dollars represented in its securities, the electric railway industry will review its program at the 35th annual convention of the American Electric Railway association to be held at Atlantic City, October 9 to 13th.

Frank J. Sprague, who planned and built the first successful trolley line in Richmond, Va., in 1888, is to lead the review of the physical development of electric railways. Mr. Sprague is still in the harness, is a member of the naval advisory board, appointed by President Wilson, and a famous consulting engineer. Participating in the discussion will be men who have been on the firing line during all of the various phases of the astounding growth.

Attention is to be paid also to the social and financial aspects of the subject and the discussion as to this side of the development is to be led by A. B. Leach, a New York banker, who has played an important part in the evolution of street car lines, from the short, poorly equipped and isolated lines, a dozen or so of which served each city, into the present great systems covering entire communities with a length of rail for single track that in some instances reaches as high as 40 miles.

The session at which this discussion will take place is to be presided over by Charles L. Henry of Indianapolis, the association's president, who built the first interurban road in Indiana, and who first christened the lines that connect city to city "Interurban."

The gathering is expected to bring from 4,000 to 5,000 railway men from the United States, Canada, Central and South America.

Gen. Leonidas A. Wood, U.S.A., and Capt. S. D. Embick, Coast Artillery, U.S.A., are to address the convention on the subject of the part to be played by electric railways in military operations.

The convention is also to listen to the address of Ivy L. Lee, on publicity, using as his text, the platform of principles adopted by the association in 1914 in which "full and frank publicity" was laid down as a fundamental.

Col. P. J. Kealy, president of the Kansas City Railway company and one of the leading experts on the appraisal of public service properties, is to speak on the subject of "Valuation."

In all the sessions of the main organization and its affiliated associations for accountants, engineers, claims agents and transportation and traffic officials, there will be delivered more than 100 addresses and committee reports.

The sessions of the convention will be held on Young's Billion Dollar Pier, and in connection therewith, there will be an exhibit of apparatus and supplies that covers nearly 50,000 square feet of floor space and embracing the latest developments in the art.

The association represents 3,793 of the 41,000 miles of electric roads of the United States, and its members collect more than 30 per cent of the total revenues of nearly $600,000,000 that come to electric carriers. In addition to railway companies, the association has as members, more than 200 manufacturers engaged in turning out electric railway machinery and supplies and some 1,000 individuals engaged in the industry.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

OUR COAST DEFENCE

The coming of a German submarine belonging to the naval fleet and armed, opens up to this country new problems in coast defence and gives renewed impetus to the agitation for naval preparedness. The problem was precipitated by the coming of the Deutschland, but not until a submarine warship came did the people see its significance. As in the case of the commercial undersea boat, there was no intimation of its coming until it ploughed into an American harbor. If two German ships were able to do this in the midst of a great war and while the greatest fleet in the world was on watch, could they not do it some time when the English fleet may not be engaged in the war? If a freight ship and a fighting submarine could so come, what is there to prevent the coming of a transport and the landing of foreign troops in the still waters of the night? With the great and inadequately protected coast line of the United States, it would not seem difficult for any foreign power to use the new submarine weapon against us in case of war. England, from motives of self-interest, will strive to minimize the present achievement, but it is an important question for American experts to ponder and to meet in the light of modern naval needs.

Great publicity was given last summer to the mobilization of motor boats for submarine chasers, and some did not understand what lay behind it. The timeliness of the scheme may now seem more apparent. We should not wait for war to anticipate the tactics of a possible enemy, and whether against Germany or England or Japan or any other power we should perfect our coast defences so as to meet possible attacks from any quarter. We shall have to take a new interest in the steel nets, coast guns and long range battleships.

The coming of the German submarine will also bring new worries to the allies as it will open up possibilities of unforeseen attacks on allied warships and on freight ships outside of the three mile limit. If some day a Bremen should come convoyed by ships like that which started Newport last Saturday, the cruisers waiting outside the three-mile line will not hold sway unchallenged. What happens there is beyond our jurisdiction provided international law is respected.

News of the sinking of nine vessels by the submarine which put into Newport last Saturday, aided by one or two others, has furnished an unexpected development in the submarine policy of Germany and has brought its naval horrors to "our" very doors. If Germany perfects the service she will not let the ships of the allies leave our ports and the allies will not let ships into German or other enemy ports. It looks now as though submarine warfare has been resumed on a larger scale than ever and the complications that this country finds itself in are obvious. If German submarines sink only ships of the allies and give sufficient warning and time for passengers and crew to escape, it looks as though the German government can defend the operations of their submarines even in sight of the American coast. Putting aside the chance of trouble with the United States, the development of a German undersea campaign on this side might be more serious for England than submarine operations off the English or French coast. The danger for Germany will be in so interfering with American rights or interests that our government will demand the withdrawal of her submarines from our shores or a modification that would limit their effectiveness.

REGISTER AND VOTE

In every city there are to be found individuals who, through sheer indifference, neglect to register and so must stay away from the polls on election day. They believe to be sure in democracy and will enthuse about the American system but they never apply it to their own peculiar case. Others who are on the voting lists will not make the effort necessary to get their vote on the ballot and yet they are among the inveterate critics of political conditions. It is not a healthy state of affairs when leading men declare in favor of a statute to make voting obligatory, but the suggestion has been made and seriously. A better idea might be to disfranchise those who deliberately stay away from the polling booth for a certain number of elections.

The board of registrars of voters have issued their notice to the people of Lowell that their office will be open this evening and at intervals until Wednesday, Oct. 18, which shall be the last chance to register. All who have not been assessed and who would otherwise have the right to vote at the coming state election should present themselves at city hall and get on the lists while there is time. The vote at the primaries, while better than expected, was not what it ought to have been but this should be corrected on election day. There is absolutely no excuse for an American citizen who so far forgets his duty as to remain away from a intervention still President Wilson held out and now the whole question on which many thousands of lives might have been lost in intervention is being settled peacefully by a commission representing this country and Mexico. This is one of the greatest triumphs of President Wilson's diplomacy.

TALKS TO CHILDREN

A wise observance of fire prevention day is the growing practice of assigning bremen to speak to the children in the various schools of the city. A great many fires are started by the carelessness of the young so the talkers have a direct application but still more important is the educational effect. Children are easily impressed by what looks like authority and the sight of a city employee in uniform in the school leaves a strong picture in the mind. Moreover, the youngsters will talk the matter over at home and carry into the life of the family a little of what they have learned.

In other cities this idea of bringing civic life home to children is being amplified and excellent results are reported. In sections of New York, for instance, police officers visit the schools occasionally and urge the children to co-operate with them in obeying the laws and keeping the city crimeless. This might be done advantageously everywhere and if it were done children might look upon the police as friends rather than as something to be shamed and dreaded. In time of special precautions, like that we have just passed through, members of the board of health or city physicians might with advantage visit the schools and give special instructions to the children. While there is some danger that this be overdone, it can scarcely be said that we have as yet reached that point, and the success of the experiment so far recommends its extension.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Molly, love," said Molly's smart mother. "I do hope, when we're at Mrs. Jimson's this afternoon, that you won't think of letting out that terrible story about the poor, dear minister's wife that we heard yesterday."

"Oh, of course not, mother! It would be so wicked, as well as dangerous. I shouldn't dream of speaking evil of anyone."

"Quite right, my dear—quite right! You always have such nice feelings about everything! Besides, I want to tell Mrs. Jimson myself!"

History as It Is Wrote

The new battlehip schools instituted by the secretary of the navy have made some startling contributions to literature. Here is an essay of a Fil-

lype sailor who was told to write about George Washington:

"George Washington was sore because American persons is not true. He sail to England on (having) his own battleship ship and say to King 'I express declaration of independence for American persons.' King he say 'Nothin' doin' and Mr. Washington tell Admiral Dewey to shoot turrel guns at him. Blame King he say he will not rule American persons again. 'Let George do it,' say King, and today American persons is free."—Paraphrased.

WILSON'S MEXICAN TRIUMPH

The onslaught of the German U-boats off Nantucket brings home to the American people the horrors of war and how easily this country might be drawn into the terrible conflict. The republican orators are making one of their strongest issues out of the fact that this country did not intervene in Mexico. Nevertheless, there is no single thing for which the democratic administration deserves more credit than for the policies by which it kept out of war with Mexico. The policy of "watchful waiting" and the feuding with Mexico by which war was avoided and arbitration finally established enabled this nation to maintain the good will of the South American countries and at the same time to remain in a position of readiness to deal with any of the European countries that might transpire upon American rights.

As events progressed we became involved in a controversy with Germany in which that country was forced to yield in face of our actual threat of war. Had we been engaged in a war with Mexico when the Lusitania was sunk, Germany would have paid no attention to our protests knowing that we could not afford to go to war with any European nation while fighting Mexico. What a sorry spectacle we should have been had our hands been tied with Mexico when the submarine policy was at its worst?

Thus it appears that while we have had considerable trouble with Mexico and while capitalistic and faction leaders did all in their power to bring on

RECOVERIES FROM LOW LEVELS AT OPENING

ALL BRANCHES OF LIST SHARED

IN RISE—STEADY GAINS IN FORENOON

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Further substantial recoveries from low levels of the preceding session were registered at today's opening. All branches of the list shared in the rise, with gains most marked, however, in industrial equipments, such as American Sugar, Baldwin Locomotive, General Electric, Studebaker and Air Brake. There was unusual activity in strength in gas stocks. U. S. Steel rose over a point and the active metals and rails were in demand with perceptible improvements in shipping issues.

The record of the forenoon was one of steady gains on an increasing inquiry for investment issues, including prominent rails, Union Pacific, Reading and Lehigh Valley were higher by two points with one or more for various minor issues of the same division. The shipping group extended its gains to two points for Marine preferred and 3 1/2 for Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies stocks. One to two points higher with greater gains for zinc stocks, while munitions and equipments also made further advances. People's Gas secured an extreme gain of 6 points. Hide & Leather preferred rose 2 and American Sugar 4 1/2. Bonds were firm.

CONCORD & MONTREAL RAILROAD MEETING

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 10.—The annual meeting of the Concord & Montreal railroad was held here today, and the following directors were elected for the ensuing year: Benjamin A. Kimball, Walter H. Parker, George J. Kimball, Arthur H. Hale, Benjamin C. White, Summer Wallace, William H. Moses, Arthur H. Brown and Arthur

Mr. Hurd. The representatives of the John H. Pearson's fund endorsed the action of the board of directors in keeping intact the integrity of the local road. There was an address by H. Agapit Bogolian of Boston opposing the transfer of the Concord & Montreal to another corporation. The Boston & Maine, or the New York, New Haven & Hartford would use the Concord & Montreal only to attain its own ends, he said.

He retorted that the bondholders and the directors decided that they would not vote for the bullet. The Fields live at 339 Lorain st. There is no known reason for his act except that he had had melancholy fits of late. He was for many years a textile mill foreman.

SHAVINGS MAKE TROUBLE

Ignition of shavings in a blower at the plant of the Davis & Sargent Co. in Middlesex street gave the members of Engine 1 a run to the place at 7:30 o'clock this morning. It was found that there was plenty of smoke but fire and after the firemen found that there was no danger they returned to their station. At 1:13 o'clock this afternoon, however, there was another call for the same cause, but as in the first instance no damage was done.

STREET RAILWAY SAVED $10,000

LAWRENCE, Oct. 10.—In its failure to secure a double track franchise on the new Lawrence-Lowell boulevard from the city of Lawrence the Bay State Street Railway company apparently saved $10,000.

In a communication to the municipal council today the Essex county commissioners request information as to whether or not there has been a franchise granted via the new boulevard, stating that if the same has been granted there is a payment of $10,000 toward the cost of the highway due from the street railway company.

It will be recalled that the council refused to grant the double track petition unless the street railway company would agree to pay the highway.

GERARD REFUSES FIGHTING SOUTH OF SOMME TO DISCUSS PEACE TALK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, upon his arrival here today, declined either to affirm or deny published reports that he was returning to the United States on a peace mission on behalf of the emperor of Germany.

Mr. Gerard's attention was called to a story which appeared this morning in the New York World to the effect that his errand was to inform the administration that a resumed submarine activity is being considered by Germany in a manner which might threaten German-American relations. Mr. Gerard, after quickly glancing through this story, said:

"You don't see me quoted anywhere in it, do you?"

Mr. Gerard said, in response to a question that there are about 3000 Americans in Germany at this time, of whom about 700 are in Berlin.

The Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII., on which Mr. Gerard arrived, was met at quarantine by a municipal police boat on which was Mayor Michel's reception committee, headed by Oscar S. Straus. Mrs. Gerard, who accompanied the ambassador, was presented with a large bouquet of American beauty roses as she came aboard the police boat.

The latter reported that the desired location was in Billerica, rather than Lowell, and on the strength of this report the petitioner was given leave to withdraw. bers of the reichstag are in no wise convinced by the arguments against submarine warfare, particularly by the statistical place of Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the interior. On the other hand, the centrist parliamentary correspondence—the recognized publicity bureau of the centrist reichstag group—declares completely unjustified the announcement of the Lokal Anzeiger, that enough clerical deputies have broken away to give a majority perhaps to the side favoring ruthless submarine war.

"We would emphasize," says the bureau, "that the centrist's declarations and the attitude of its members in committee are in complete accord. The intention is to be interpreted solely as an aim to define precisely the responsibility of the chancellor before the reichstag on the political aspects of the question of ruthless submarine war. The supreme military command and therefore ultimately Field Marshal von Hindenburg is alone competent to pass upon the military side of the entire question. It is wrong, however, to deduce from this attitude of the centrist members of the committee a rapprochement with that group which demands ruthless submarine warfare under all circumstances."

The bureau says that the centrum is endeavoring to harmonize contending standpoints, feeling that the controversy over the submarine issue, unless terminated, will have lamentable effects on popular sentiment.

PROF. LAMBROS HAS SUCCEEDED IN FORMING GREEK CABINET

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9, via London.—The Berlin Voerwaerts incurred the most recent order for its suppression by advocating the appointment of a reichstag committee for foreign affairs, according to Berlin despatches received here.

The Voerwaerts said that if the proposal was adopted the antagonists of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg would have an opportunity to ask for his dismissal. It added that the vote would show what the reichstag thinks of Germany's war aims. The article concluded: "This again proves the necessity of Germany having a system of parliamentary government."

UNCERTAINTY AS TO ATTITUDE OF REICHSTAG ON THE SUBMARINE QUESTION

BERLIN, Oct. 9, via London, Oct. 10.—Declarations and counter-declarations regarding the attitude of the center party toward the submarine question, the burning issue of the day, leaves the situation extremely foggy. There is a cloud of uncertainty as to how the clerical members of the reichstag, who hold the balance of power, will vote on the decisive ballot regarding the conduct of the war.

The Cologne Volks Zeitung, representing one branch of the Prussian centre, declares that the centrist members of parliament arrived at Saloniki on Monday, according to a despatch from that city to Reuter's.

Duffy's Value in Diabetes

Some time ago Van Noorden, the celebrated scientist, startled the medical world with the announcement that Diabetes cases could be successfully treated with whiskey. And now comes the Rockefeller Institute with the statement that whiskey has been used by them for several months with great success for Diabetes—a more common disease than is generally supposed. Many people have it and don't know it, and it is more dangerous in youth than old age, because it inclines its victims to all sorts of diseases. Hence the importance of an absolutely pure medicinal product such as

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

To be used in connection with the diet your physician recommends. Here is an absolutely true statement from a grateful user, sworn to before a Notary Public:

"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and it does me a great amount of good and I highly recommend it to any one troubled with Diabetes. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was recommended to me by a trained nurse, and since my first trial I am so pleased with the result that I am never without it. I can truly recommend it as prescribed to all who are afflicted by Diabetes."—Mrs. Theresa Winterstein, 189 E. 100th Street, New York City.

Now no claims for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey are ever put forth that have not been proven in actual practice, neither do unprejudiced physicians ever hesitate to recommend this valuable remedy to all those whose systems need building up, for Duffy's is most excellent and invigorating stimulant. A tablespoonful in equal amounts of water or milk before meals and on retiring, benefits the digestion and assists assimilation, enabling thousands to

WIRE THIEVES ARE ARRAIGNED IN POLICE COURT

An ingenious method of stealing was brought to light this morning during the session of police court when Albert Bergeron and Charles Ayard, charged with the larceny of 75 pounds of wire from the Bay State Street Railway Co., were brought to trial. They entered a plea of guilty but, owing to the fact that John Byaski, who was charged with receiving stolen property, entered with a plea of not guilty and asked for a continuance, the cases were continued until tomorrow morning.

It is alleged that Bergeron and Ayard have been stealing copper wire which bond the car rails in order to carry the current, and in order to steal the wire it is necessary to dig into the ground and use a saw. According to the police the greater part of the wire has been stolen from the vicinity of Kenwood on the Lawrence line.

The police have received many reports relative to the larceny of the bonding wire and have been on the alert, but it was up to Patrolman Jas.

J. Kennedy to apprehend one of the men, Bergeron, last Friday. At that time Bergeron had a bag containing some of the bonding wire, a saw, cutters, a chisel and other implements. Yesterday Patrolman Kennedy arrested Ayard.

When questioned in the police station this morning, both men admitted that they had committed larceny and said they sold the wire to Byskis. The latter, however, denied that he had any transaction with the two men.

The trio will be brought before Judge Enright for trial tomorrow morning.

WITHDRAW HER APPEAL

Ella Roberts was arrested on the North common by Patrolman Bagley last night. The woman said she was not drunk at the time, but the officer said she was so drunk it was necessary for him to carry her to the box. Sergeant Ryan corroborated the testimony offered by the arresting officer. The defendant was sentenced to three months in jail. She appealed and after being brought downstairs withdrew her appeal.

JUDGE FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Joseph Boruke and Alice Stomas who appeared in court yesterday on complaints charging them with a statutory offense, were brought before Judge Enright this morning but after the court learned that a more serious charge had been preferred against the man he held him under $500 for his appearance before the superior court. The woman was given a suspended sentence to Sherborn.

THREE MONTHS IN JAIL

Joseph Graham was charged with the larceny of a coat and after admitting his guilt was sentenced to three months in jail.

VIOLATED TRAFFIC RULES

Panos Gliners was charged with a violation of the city ordinance by allowing his automobile to remain standing in Central street for more than 20 minutes. He admitted his guilt but owing to extenuating circumstances the case was placed on file.

MUFFLER WAS CUT OUT

James P. Jones was charged with operating an automobile which made unnecessary noise by reason of the muffler being cut out. Jones said that the muffler was out of order and he could not stop the noise, that he had it repaired the following morning and paid $3 for the necessary repairs. Owing to the circumstances Judge Enright gave the defendant a chance to prove that he did not intentionally violate the law and continued the case until Saturday.

SOLDIER RETURNS TO FORT

A young man who is stationed at Fort Banks, but who has been enjoying a furlough, was arrested in Middlesex street last night by Patrolman Cullen, but when the court learned that he would go directly back to the fort he was given his release.

DRUNKEN OFFENDERS

There were several drunken offenders. Some were sent to the state farm, others to jail and the remainder were either placed on probation or given small fines.

EXCITING MOMENTS IN WORLD'S SERIES
GAME BETWEEN RED SOX AND BROOKLYNS

When Gainor, pinch-hitting for Gardner, made that historic hit that scored speedy Mike McNally from second with the winning run of that memorable 14-inning game yesterday, the Rollaway rink rocked with enthusiasm. Just as that clout was made at Braves field, Boston, the wire connection on the electrical score board at the rink flashed the play. The fans here realized that Boston had made it two straight and the cheer that went up could be heard a great distance from the scene. In fact during the entire game plays were greeted with cheers and yell that made one forget that he was not at the ball grounds, and so realistic was every detail that the desire to shout became contagious and when the final play was enacted "everybody was doing it." The board is a great success, and this assertion is substantiated by the fact that in the two days over 3000 fans have seen the games at the Rollaway. Today and to-morrow the games will be played in Brooklyn, and hence arrangements have been made to handle a big crowd at the Rollaway. If you want to follow the game and see every play and movement reproduced exactly as it occurs, get in line and follow the crowd to the Rollaway. Tickets 25 cents. Reserved seats may be secured in advance.

IN BOSTON.—The Sun is on sale every day at both news stands of the Rollaway station in Boston. Don't forget this when taking your train for Lowell

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Thirty-six thousand enthusiastic fans attended the opening game of the world's series between the Boston American League team and the Brooklyn, champions of the National League, which the former won 6 to 5. In the accompanying illustration are shown: No. 1, Walker of the Red Sox safe at third base; No. 2, Duffy Lewis of the Red Sox reaching third on Scott's sacrifice; No. 3, Marquardt and Meyers, battery for the Brooklyn in the opening clash.

TOFALOS AND VOGEL TO MEET HERE THURSDAY

GREEK CHAMPION TO TACKLE

b. Tofalos, the Greek champion weight lifter and wrestler will appear in Lowell for the first time on Thursday night, when he will meet Carl Vogel, the German grappler, in a match for the heat two out of three falls. Tofalos tips the beam at 212 pounds, while his opponent will enter the ring at 265. Both are said to be in perfect condition and each will try hard to win, as the winner will be matched with Du Roller.

The appearance of Tofalos in this city is hated by his countrymen as great honor, and the indications are good that he will turn out in large numbers to see the big champion in action. Tofalos is a versatile athlete. He is also an opera singer and actor and has been in great demand since coming to this country. Vogel is a well known performer and should put up a good exhibition.

Jim Prokes of Lowell will meet Young Hackenmann of Boston in a match to a finish, while Jim Papas will tackle Young Thompson of Nashua. The bouts will be in charge of a competent referee. Refreshments can be had at the box office at the Playhouse. Tofalos will arrive in Lowell tomorrow afternoon.

CHARLIE SHEPPARD TO MEET NEW YORK BOXER

Charlie Sheppard, Lowell's sensational featherweight, will meet Kid Sullivan of New York at the Commercial A. C., Boston, Friday evening, Oct. 20. Sheppard is going like a house on fire, and his services are in demand throughout New England. In fact, many offers have been received by his manager from New York and Halifax. His recent successes have appealed to many matchmakers and the indications are that he will have a busy winter season. His exhibition against Green in Boston last Friday night showed that he possessed considerable gameness and retaliatory powers. He was dropped in the first round, but came back strong and by remarkable work piled up enough points in the remaining rounds to win the decision. He is training here for the bout next week and reports that he was never in better condition in his life.

Del Garner Won Game

Del Garner was probably the most talked of man in Boston last night. He had a chance to sail into the limelight as a result of one of Carrigan's famous shifts, that have won many games. In the 14th inning Smith temporarily lost the plate in the darkness and passed Hoblitzel. Lewis sacrificed him to second. Then Boss Bill called back Gardner, a left handed batter, and sent in Garner. He also sent Mike McNally to second to run for Hoblitzel. With one and one called, Garner swung his club against a plate cutter and the sphere sped between Mowrey and Gleason to left field. With a strike like a deer McNally rounded third base toward home and slid over the plate just ahead of Wheat's throw-in which was by no means perfect. Thus ended a baseball game that Ty Cobb, Christy Mathewson and many experts declared was the best game ever played.

The crowd was much larger than Saturday and the big horseshoe was filled to capacity. While Saturday many remained away because they thought everything would be closed up yesterday good seats were available as late as 1:15 o'clock.

NOTES OF GAMING

Two hours and a half filled with thrilling plays in a world's champion-ship game is worth going miles to see.

The record for a world's series game previous to yesterday was a 13-inning game played between the Cubs and Detroit.

Another inning might have been played but it is doubtful. Darkness was shadowing the field and there was rain in the air. Carrigan undoubtedly made his final shifts figuring that the game would be called.

It was announced during the 14th inning that in the event of a tie the teams would remain in Boston until two games had been decided.

At least eight souvenirs were taken away from the park. They were baseball bats that had been knocked into the bleachers or stands.

Umpire Quigley robbed Myers of a hit by a decision at first base that wasn't even close. Ty Cobb and Christy Mathewson, who were again in the press box, laughed when the ump. called Hi out.

Babe Ruth may have pitched better than he did in the first few innings but he never finished stronger. Not a hit was made off him after the eighth inning.

Hooper made a hard effort to reach Myers' home run drive, diving into the air for it but he did not have a chance.

With Lewis on first Gardner hit a hard one to Mowrey which deflected to Olson. The latter tossed to Cutshaw and Lewis was called out.

Even had Cutshaw fended Ruth's grounder perfectly instead of juggling it once it is probable that Scott would have scored with the first run.

Scott led his teammates at bat with a triple and a single. Thomas, with a triple and Janvin's double were other extra base Red Sox hits.

Olson was jeered for interfering with Thomas after the latter's long hit to left which Wheat tried hard to field but failed. Olson stood on the bageline and Thomas ran into him and fell down. He was lucky to get back to second ahead of the ball but Quigley saw the interference and waved him to third.

Walker's great throw after handling Miller's single in the eighth held Mowrey at third and prevented Brooklyn from taking the lead.

Brooklyn rooters held their breath in the ninth when with none out and Janvin on third Hoblitzel hit a long fly to Myers. A great throw relieved their suspense, however.

After catching a fly to deep center Walker made an exhibition throw which was caught by Thomas without moving from his tracks and Tilly was given a great hand.

As the game went into extra innings the fielding of Gardner and Scott proved even more sensational and it was then decided that yet another home run would win for Brooklyn.

Dubert made a great running catch of a foul fly in the 11th. It was a catch similar to those Hal Chase used to make.

There were few strike-outs considering the length of the game. Ruth was the only Boston man to fan but he fell twice. Four of the Dodgers' batters.

The noise was so loud when Brooklyn was in the field in the 11th that manager Robinson appealed to the umpires to request the Royal Rooters' band to stop playing. The leaders agreed to stop while the teams were in the field but the clapping and cheering in the bleachers was even louder than the band.

Hoblitzel, who is supposed to be weak against southpaws, walked four times yesterday.

Lowell Man Had Stomach Trouble

James W. Gould, of 147 Forest Ave., Says Since Taking Plant Juice He is Feeling Fine

The Dows Drug Store, in Merrimack Square, where the new preparation Plant Juice, is being introduced, has presented a scene of unusual activity for the past few days. Many people are calling out of gratitude to thank The Plant Juice Man for what his remedy had been done for them, and to congratulate him upon the great success he has had in Lowell.

The following signed statement was recently made by Mr. James W. Gould, who lives at No. 147 Forest Avenue, and is a trusted employee of the Hamilton mill. Mr. Gould has many friends in this city and is also well known in labor circles. He said:

"For 10 years I have been troubled with my stomach in the form of indigestion; I had bad attacks of acute indigestion and suffered agony, and I thought it would prove fatal. Meats and vegetables would cause me great distress, and in fact I could hardly keep any food in my stomach; I had headaches, dizzy spells, could not get any sleep at night, and would feel tired in the morning as when I went to bed at night; I was badly constipated and had taken ever so many different medicines without the slightest benefit. After taking Plant Juice only a short time the effect on my system has been wonderful; I sleep well, can eat anything I want without the slightest distress, have no more dizzy spells and never felt better in my life. I am more than pleased with what Plant Juice has done for me, and will recommend it to all of my friends."

There are numerous symptoms of this trouble that Plant Juice can relieve. In fact any one of the following may denote affections of the stomach: Indigestion, dyspepsia, belching of wind, bad breath, sick, throbbing headaches, night sweats, poor circulation, tired feeling, constipation, a coated tongue or a poor complexion.

The Plant Juice Man is at The Dows Drug Store, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

TWO BOYS DYING AFTER COLLISION ON BRIDGE

AUTOIST FLED AFTER RUNNING
DOWN BICYCLE—LADS FOUND
UNCONSCIOUS

NEW BEDFORD, Oct. 10.—Richard Gay of 59 Park street and Charles Jameson, 129 Maxfield street, both about 16 years of age, who were riding a bicycle across the bridge between this city and Fairhaven last night, about 9 o'clock were run down by an automobile and neither is expected to live.

The automobile did not stop. The police are searching for "big touring car with broken headlight," the only description they have to work with.

About 8, Charles Anderson, an expressman, who was driving to his home, 49 Cedar street, Fairhaven, discovered the unconscious boys on the bridge. Gay was near the south curbing, and nearby was a wrecked bicycle. Jameson's body was found in the middle of the highway. Anderson stopped an automobile bound to this city and asked the driver to notify the police. The boys were taken to St. Luke's hospital, where it was found that the Gay boy had a fractured leg, and both he and Jameson fractured skulls.

Representative Leon S. Kelly of Fairhaven, who arrived at the scene of the accident on his way to this city about the time the police cars reached there, reported having passed one automobile bound east near the Rogers monument, with one bright headlight burning.

The police found considerable broken glass a short distance west of the place where the boys were picked up.

Used successfully for eight years by thin men and women who want to thin out on flesh and increase weight.

CREW FEARING LINER WILL BE BLOWN UP DEMAND BONUS

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Although she was halted and her papers examined by a German submarine off Nantucket Sunday, the American-Hawaiian liner Kansan, which arrived safely in Boston yesterday from New York, may share an entirely different fate within the next few days, after she leaves this port for St. Nazaire and Genoa, loaded with munitions for the Italian and French governments.

In local shipping circles it is believed that the Kansan was spared by the undersea destroyer because she was bound from one American port to another and was flying the Stars and Stripes, and that the German commander felt that under such circumstances the sinking of the Kansan would involve his country in grave and speedy difficulties with the United States.

"It was perfect weather for the submarine's activities. The sea was smooth, there was little wind and no fog."

None No Threats

Capt. Smith denied that he heard the German commander remark, "We'll get you when you come out."

"He simply allowed us to proceed, the captain stated.

First Mate Hugh McNamara told a reporter that as he neared the submarine he made out the German flag. He said the conversation on both sides was terse, businesslike and to the point. No jesting remarks were made. The German commander was a young man, smooth shaven, and spoke English. Mate McNamara remained in the Kansan's boat while his papers were examined, and when the task was completed, the German commander said:

"You may proceed." He tendered the American officer tow to his steamer and this was accepted. The U-boat towed the other craft to within a short distance of the Kansan. The U-boat was about 300 feet long, McNamara thought.

After the Kansan had resumed her passage to Boston the radio operator picked up the SOS signal sent out by the sinking West Point. Capt. Smith ordered his vessel turned back to assist the distressed steamer, and a short time later received word that the West Point's crew had been saved.

Many of the men on the Kansan were of the opinion that the submarine which challenged them was not the U-53, as the published photographs of this vessel do not correspond with the one they encountered off Nantucket.

The U-53 was shown with three masts while the Kansan's challenger showed but two. The officer in charge of the examination of papers of the Boston-bound vessel was smooth shaven, and Capt. Hines Rose displayed a Van Dyke beard at Newport when the U-53 was in there Saturday.

COTTON COMP'Y PETITIONS FOR NEW STREET

Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, gave a hearing in the aldermanic chamber at city hall this morning on the petition of the Bay State Cotton corporation and the Baker Engineering corporation that a new street be laid out and accepted between Middlesex street and Marginal street west of Glidden avenue, about 175 feet in accordance with a plan on file in the city engineer's office.

Mr. Baker spoke in favor of the petition and said the proposed street would be of inestimable value. He told of buildings proposed to be erected there and said the petitioners were willing to give the land, more than 4000 feet, gratis, to the city and to share the expense of bringing it to grade.

A representative of the Bay State Cotton corporation said the company was looking for some sort of avenue that will allow help and teams to pass through. He said it would be of great convenience, not only to the company, but the public in general.

Mrs. Martha A. White was opposed to the petition. She said it would spoil her building lot and destroy her fruit trees.

George S. Gilman said the street would be a good thing for the cotton corporation and would improve Mr. Baker's land. Personally, he said, he had no objections to make.

Mr. Morse asked Mrs. White if she would be willing to be compensated for her land and she said she would if the price was a fair one.

SERGT. HAGGERTY TELLS OF MOVEMENTS OF CO. M IN NEW MEXICO

Following is another letter from Sergeant Frank J. Haggerty, now with Co. M, which is part of the Massachusetts brigade in New Mexico. He writes of the long hikes and the difficulty of obtaining water in the country passed through.

Evidently Sgt. Haggerty had not heard of the date of departure when he wrote the subjoined letter. There were then only rumors that the troops would soon be ordered home. The letter:

Anthony, New Mexico,
Wednesday, Oct. 4, 1916.

The Lowell Sun.—We are now having a practical demonstration of the army term, "in the field," and a sample of what we would most likely have to endure were it an invasion of Mexico instead of New Mexico where we are now encamped in the first stage of our 10-day tour. Our orders came yesterday evening at 8 Sunday morning bright and early. The 10th Provisional army division of which the Massachusetts brigade is a part, with its 30,000 men, infantry, cavalry, artillery, ambulance corps, signal corps, engineering corps, supply trains and the other numerous subdivisions of an army in the field, was wending its way through the streets of El Paso northward in hot pursuit of an imaginary brown army which has a base at Raton, New Mexico.

Our first halt was at what is known as the Suezel works, a distance of about eight miles from Cotton. Here we pitched our "pup" tents, and soon the sky was aglow with the reflections of thousands of campfires for the evenings are cool and they furnish our only source of light by which we read our maps and write the same.

Early Monday morning while the stars were still glimmering we were awakened by the cries of the mules and shouts of the drivers, calling to one another in the dark, and the rumble of the supply teams pulling out ahead of the main body, and soon after we were rolling up our own packs and before the sun was up an hour we were on our way again. This time we camped at the Borderland Inn, about two miles from Cantillo, where we did our tour of duty a short time ago. There was one bad feature about the place. The water was full of alkali and tasted like salt water, so that many of the fellows could not drink it.

Secure March.

Tuesday morning we arose at 4 o'clock but did not leave the camp grounds until 11:30, as we changed our position to the rear of the column. This march was the worst we have had yet and over a dozen of our men fell out temporarily. They rejoined the company later in the day, however. The march over all kinds of country and that made it hard was the fact that many of the boys did not take this small water along, expecting to get some fresh water along the way. In this they were disappointed for the troops ahead had taken about everything or where there was any, it was as much as your life was worth to get it with the crowd, and it reached us about 6 p.m., having covered about 15 miles, and it did not require a great deal of persuasion on the part of the officers to have the men remain in camp and retire.

ALLIES WANT U.S. TO PUT BAN ON U-BOATS

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The text of the memorandum recently sent by the Allies to neutral governments respecting the admission of belligerent submarines into neutral waters or ports is as follows:

Text of Note

"In view of the development of submarine navigation and by reason of acts which, in the present circumstances may be unfortunately expected from enemy submarines the allied governments consider it necessary, in order not only to safeguard their belligerent rights and liberty of commercial navigation, but to avoid risks of dispute, urge neutral governments to take effective measures, if they have not already done so, with a view to preventing belligerent submarine vessels, whatever the purpose to which they are put from making use of neutral waters, roadsteads and ports.

"In the case of submarine vessels the application of the principles of the law of nations is affected by special and novel conditions: First, by the fact that these vessels can navigate and remain at sea submerged and can thus escape all control and observation; second, by the fact that it is impossible to identify them and establish their national character, whether neutral or belligerent, combatant or non-combatant, and to remove the capacity for harm inherent in the nature of such vessels.

Adds to Its Powers

"It may further be said that any place which provides a submarine vessel far from its base with an opportunity for rest and replenishment of its supplies, thereby furnishes such addition to its powers that the place becomes, in fact, through the advantages which it gives, a base of naval operations.

"In view of the state of affairs thus existing, the allied governments are of the opinion that submarine vessels should be excluded from the benefits of the rules hitherto recognized by the laws of nations, regarding the administration of vessels of war, or merchant vessels into neutral waters, roadsteads or ports and their sojourn in them. Any belligerent submarine entering a neutral port should be detained there."

"The allied governments take this opportunity to point out to the neutral powers the grave danger incurred by neutral submarines in the navigation of regions frequented by belligerent submarines."

The boys have taken a deep interest in cooking. Every night when they get their fire going, they visit the "kitchen" and now a few potatoes, small onion, a little bit of salt, spoonful of sugar, or an ounce of coffee, and they can serve canned "Willie" in 57 varieties.

We were all issued new shoes and socks and heavy underwear so that we are not in need of clothing. In this place you need summer and winter clothing at the same time.

Sergeant Frenette, Bugler Merritt and Privates Callahan, Lynch, Tizie, Malonson, Conley, Louis Perry and Smith were left behind at Cotton.

Tom Donahoe enjoys the outdoor life and is in the best of health.

The old men were "there" in every sense of the word.

BOY CRUSHED TO DEATH BY ELEVATOR

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—John Kano, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kano, 281 West Third street, South Boston, was crushed to death early last evening by the elevator in the Worthworth store, 417 Broadway, South Boston, where he was employed as an errand boy.

The boy had already carried several bundles and had returned to make the last delivery of the day. He found the front entrance closed and sought to reach the delivery room by way of the freight elevator.

The door leading to the elevator from the sidewalk was found open. He started the elevator upwards, and on the second floor landing in some unknown manner he was caught between the elevator and the outside wall. No outcry was heard by anyone in the store.

About 9 o'clock John F. Berry, a window trimmer, discovered the body hanging downward and in a mangled condition. Captain Locke of Ladd's brought the body. Medical Examiner Magrath viewed the body and said the boy had been dead about an hour when found. Death was due to internal injuries and a fractured skull.

The boy was a member of St. Vincent's Boys' brigade. The identity of the body was established by the Rev. Father McNeil, who is director of the brigade attached to his church.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A meeting of the members of Loyal Integrity Lodge, 6650, L.O.O.F. M.U., was held last evening in Club Citizens-Amerleas Hall in Middle street with N. G. Harold Merrill in the chair. Two applications for membership were received. A bowling tournament was organized between the married and unmarried men of the lodge, and Treasurer George Chase has been chosen captain of the married men quintet, while G. M. Lee MacKenzie will head the unmarried men.

Adelbert Ames Camp

At a meeting of the members of Gen. Adelbert Ames camp, Spanish War Veterans, which was held in the mayor's reception room at city hall last evening with Commander Alex. D. Mitchell in the chair, letters were received from Amesbury, Lawrence and Haverhill camps to the effect that these organizations will take part in the Columbus day parade to be held in this city on Thursday afternoon. One application for membership was received.

DIV. S. A.O.M.

Eight applications for membership were received at a meeting of Div. S. A.O.M., which was held last evening in the former hall with President Michael Byrnes in the chair. It was voted to rescind the action taken last Thursday, whereby it was voted to parole Columbus day, inasmuch as a big portion of the members are to parole with various other organizations. G. J. Plummer read an interesting report of the deliberations of the past county convention at Malden.

LADY LOOKABOUT

The more I hear and the more I see, and read about the activities of women in municipal affairs where the public good is vitally concerned, the more I believe that the men voters who oppose equal suffrage on the ground that woman is incompetent to use the ballot intelligently, either are woefully uninformed or are frauds. I incline to the belief that they are more knaves than fools. Had suffrage been granted to women when with more or less difficulty they first sought it, it is surer than this: they are not inheriting it from their mothers!

The Titlefish

The United States government, through its department of neglected foods, has done much in the way of a publicity campaign to popularize the titlefish.

The latest Saturday Evening Post contains an article on it, and according to the article, the titlefish is already an accepted article of food.

Personal experience with this new adjunct to fish markets compels me to take exception. The wholesale advertising given to this fish made me curious to sample it, so I purchased some and had it fried. Like cod or haddock, after two or three experiments, I gave it up.

There is an absence of firmness about the flesh which distinguishes it from the two previously mentioned varieties, and while the flavor was strongly "fishy" it was not a distinguishing flavor. In fact, it was so tasteless that it could well be considered flavorless.

Two or three dealers whom I have spoken to about the titlefish, have told of the difficulty they have had in keeping it in fresh state, and one hinted darkly at a close relationship to the dog-fish, a sort of shark often known to be man-eating.

Dr. Hugh M. Smith, in the service of the government, has done wonderful work in trying to popularize this fish, but I doubt if its popularity is to be permanent. In fact, it is not popularity at all, but a sort of false demand in response to wide advertising.

It is impossible to be sure of its quality, yet it has not come easily nor for the asking. They have fought their way to acceptance, step by step, and state by state. They have informed themselves on every political and civic question. They have studied history; they have organized in towns, cities, counties, states and nationally; they have been thwarted here, ridiculed there, opposed everywhere. Yet through it all they have survived; their organizations are stronger than ever, they have seen their influence prevail for or against a candidate for political office; they have seen a suffrage plank built into every political platform. Success is coming in all, either by state legislation or national. And the little incipient movement started so long ago, and which would have died of banition had equal suffrage been granted at that time, has flourished under opposition, and now even the most rabid opposers reluctantly admit that equal suffrage is inevitable.

Penny Candy Forms

The most popular form for penny candy to take nowadays is candies, cigars, pipes and tobacco. Judging from observation of the young purchasers of candy of this kind, all the gold old-time varieties, butter balls, taffy, gumdrops, old-fashioned chocolates, peppermints and the rest are a drug on the market, while the not-up-to-date youngster who is far removed from the times and so unsophisticated that he buys a baby stick, suffers so much from the bite of the sharp edges of the candy that he is compelled to eat it.

All hats are practically untrimmed, a wide band or bow, or at most a close lying feather ornament is the extent of trimming.

The rules of the summer have disappeared, and with them the pinched waist line which threatened us throughout the season. The present tendency is toward straight lines and low-placed girdles, suggesting the "moyen age" grown so popular a few seasons ago.

The Pickling Season

The season of pickles and preserves is again in the land. The markets shout with it; housekeepers are filled with the enthusiasm of it; homes reek with it; the air screams of it; cellars smile with it. Just as in the spring time the tune of the little song sparrow always brings back the odors of childhood, so do the odors of stewing spices and vinegar recall scenes long since gone by, and often I wonder why it is that the tune of the little song sparrow which long ago used to make me happy and glad when with more or less difficulty I first heard it from the orchard, bring back the spring, even though the frost was still deep in the ground, how fills me with loneliness and longing for something which I do not name, yet which I seem to have lost.

The same longing, nameless and elusive, accompanies the odors of pickle, catsup and chili sauce, and so insistant has it been this fall, that once or twice I almost had it, but the next moment to find it as far off and as vague as ever.

In those days, not so long ago, each anteceding the food-chopper, each in the family gave a hand at canning time. Onions had not only to be peeled by hand, but chopped as well.

Madly a year I stood over our wooden chopping-tray, head uncertainty on my narrow, slanting lap, joy trifled from the orchard, beaming spring, even though the frost was still deep in the ground, how fills me with loneliness and longing for something which I do not name, yet which I seem to have lost.

And those days, not so long ago, each anteceding the food-chopper, each in the family gave a hand at canning time. Onions had not only to be peeled by hand, but chopped as well.

Madly a year I stood over our wooden chopping-tray, head uncertainty on my narrow, slanting lap, joy trifled from the orchard, beaming spring, even though the frost was still deep in the ground, how fills me with loneliness and longing for something which I do not name, yet which I seem to have lost.

The same longing, nameless and elusive, accompanies the odors of pickle, catsup and chili sauce, and so insistant has it been this fall, that once or twice I almost had it, but the next moment to find it as far off and as vague as ever.

And those days, not so long ago, each anteceding the food-chopper, each in the family gave a hand at canning time. Onions had not only to be peeled by hand, but chopped as well.

LOWELL, TUESDAY, OCT. 10, 1916

BIG INCREASE IN FOREIGN TRADE UNDER WILSON

Edwin F. Sweet, assistant secretary of commerce, has the following article upon the great increase in our foreign trade:

American foreign trade has increased about 75 per cent during the Wilson administration. There is no longer any disposition to question that fact or to underrate its significance.

For the fiscal year 1916 our total foreign trade was valued at six and one-half billion dollars—an unprecedented trade for us. It is amazing to think that our exports alone amounted to four and one-third billion dollars. That is a half a billion dollars more than our total trade in 1912, imports and exports combined. What an impetus this has given to our industrial development! Through this expansion of our trade it may be possible even to reduce prices through greater production.

In some quarters there is a disposition to attribute our increased exports entirely to war demands. That is very unfair. It is due to the foresighted men who have pushed our trade into new markets. It is unfair to the administration which has furnished so many needed facilities for building up our trade in foreign countries.

We are of course doing a big business in war supplies, but the importance of that business has been overrated. To make it assume the greatest possible proportions, unwarranted liberties have been taken with our classifications of merchandise. Cloth, flour, meat, shoes, and many other everyday necessities have been included under the term war supplies. Of course soldiers consume these articles, but they would consume them if they were civilians and not soldiers. We have always furnished Europe with such articles. In fact, the war has cut us off from some of our best markets for such goods.

But our business with markets far removed from the war zone has greatly increased. This is the best kind of new business, because a large share of it can be retained after the war. How much will depend entirely on the way our manufacturers and exporters conduct themselves in the meantime. Our exports to South America during the fiscal year 1916 showed an increase of approximately 34 per cent, over 1914, the year preceding the war. With Africa we did about 50 per cent more business. To Japan and Asiatic Russia we sold 210 per cent more goods, although this includes some munitions. Other Asiatic countries bought 17 per cent more merchandise than in 1914. A 26 per cent increase is recorded for Australia and other Oceanic countries. Our Canadian exports show a gain of 31 per cent, and to Mexico, the West Indies, and Central America we sold 42 per cent more goods. The neutral countries increased their purchases from us to the extent of 88 per cent—a most remarkable gain, and one that cannot be said to be wholly temporary. These neutral countries have been shut off to some extent from the central powers, and they have been unable to purchase some classes of manufactured goods from the allied countries, yet it is safe to say that once accustomed to buy from us, they will not suddenly go back to their former sources of supply. What we do lose there will be made up by sales to the central powers and to Russia. To the belligerent countries themselves our exports increased 33 per cent, and it is reasonably true that our sales will fall off to some extent there when normal conditions return.

On the whole, the prospects of retaining a large share of our newly gained trade are much brighter now than they were a year ago, and they will continue to brighten the longer the war lasts. The chances of a sudden collapse are more remote now than ever. Whatever changes are to take place will be gradual. I think that is the opinion generally held now by most practical business men who have watched developments carefully. Even our munitions manufacturers are now confident of adapting their plants

TRY OIL OF KOREN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precautions to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise, the flesh is obliged to receive the oxygen carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above your weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any persons who are satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to A. W. Dow's & Co., or any good druggist, and get a box of good castor oil, and take one tablet each meal, and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, improved digestion and a return of the old energy; footstools become lighter and the skin less flabby in appearance as superfluous fat disappears.

Oil of koren is inexpensive, cannot injure, and helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial.

the education and welfare of immigrants. Mr. Trumbull is also chairman of the railways advisory board. Mr. John Mitchell, now chairman of the New York state industrial commission, has been for several years one of the country's most prominent labor leaders. Mr. Bernard J. Rothwell, also influential member of the committee on immigration, was chairman of the former Massachusetts committee of immigration appointed to investigate conditions of immigrants in that state. Mr. H. W. Hoyt, vice president of the Great Lakes Engineering Works, is chairman of the committee on education of the Detroit board of commerce, which is now in the midst of its second city-wide Americanization campaign by industries. The campaign waged last year in Detroit increased the attendance of immigrants in night school over 50 per cent. Other leading officials are Mrs. Samuel Seltzer, member of the state industrial board of Pennsylvania; Mr. David C. Adie, secretary of the committee on Americanization, Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association; and Mr. H. A. Meldrum, chairman of the committee on education of the Buffalo chamber of commerce.

To enable chambers of commerce and industrial establishments to cooperate effectively in the American First campaign, suggestive plans for activity have been prepared by the local division of immigrant education. Among other things, the division calls attention to the fact that several large industries have given a bonus or wage increase to immigrant workmen whose industrial efficiency is increased through learning English in night school.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

American Electric Railway Association is One of Great Business Enterprises of Country

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., October—Grown, since 1888, from an infant with a capital investment of a few hundred thousand dollars, to a giant among the business enterprises of the country with more than six billions of dollars represented in its securities, the electric railway industry will review its program at the 35th annual convention of the American Electric Railway association to be held at Atlantic City, October 9 to 13th.

Frank J. Sprague, who planned and built the first successful trolley line in Richmond, Va., in 1888, is to lead the review of the physical development of electric railways. Mr. Sprague is still in the harness, is a member of the naval advisory board, appointed by President Wilson, and a famous consulting engineer. Participating in the discussion will be men who have been on the firing line during all of the various phases of the astounding growth.

Attention is to be paid also to the social and financial aspects of the subject and the discussion as to this side of the development is to be led by A. B. Leach, New York banker, who has played an important part in the evaluation of street car lines, from the short, poorly equipped and isolated lines, a dozen or so of which served each city, into the present great systems covering entire communities with a length of haul for a single fare that in some instances reaches as high as 40 miles. The session at which this discussion will take place is to be presided over by Charles L. Henry of Indianapolis, the association's president, who built the first interurban road in Indiana, and who first christened the lines that connect city to city "Interurban."

The gathering is expected to bring from 4000 to 5000 railway men from the United States, Canada and South America.

Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood, U.S.A., and Capt. S. D. Embick, Coast Artillery, U.S.A., are to address the convention on the subject of the part to be played by electric railways in military operations.

The convention is also to listen to the address of Ivy L. Lee, on publicity, using as his text the platform of principles adopted by the association in 1914 in which "full and frank publicity" was laid down as a fundamental.

Col. P. J. Kealy, president of the Kansas City Railway company and one of the leading experts on the appraisal of public service properties, is to speak on the subject of "Valuation."

In all the sessions of the main organization and its affiliated associations for accountants, engineers, claims agents and transportation and traffic officials, there will be delivered more than 100 addresses and committee reports.

The sessions of the convention will be held on Young's Million Dollar Pier, and in connection therewith, there will be an exhibit of apparatus and supplies that covers nearly 60,000 square feet of floor space and embracing the latest developments in the art.

The association represents 37,000 of the 41,000 miles of electric roads of the United States, and its members collect more than 90 per cent of the total revenues of nearly $600,000,000 that come to electric carriers. In addition to railway companies, the association has as members, more than 200 manufacturers engaged in turning out electric railway machinery and supplies and some 4000 individuals engaged in the industry.

OUR COAST DEFENCE

The coming of a German submarine belonging to the naval fleet and armed, opens up to this country new problems in coast defence and gives renewed impetus to the agitation for naval preparedness. The problem was precipitated by the coming of the Deutschland, but not until a submarine warship came did the people see its significance. As in the case of the commercial undersea boat, there was no intimation of its coming until it ploughed into an American harbor. If two German ships were able to do this in the midst of a great war and while the greatest fleet in the world was on watch, could they not do it some time when the English fleet may not be engaged in the war? If a freight ship and a fighting submarine could so come, what is there to prevent the coming of a transport and the landing of foreign troops in the still waters of the night? With the great and inadequately protected coast line of the United States, it would not seem difficult for any foreign power to use the new submarine weapon again; us in case of war, England, from motives of self-interest, will strive to minimize the present achievement, but it is an important question for American experts to ponder and to meet in the light of modern naval needs.

Great publicity was given last summer to the mobilization of motor boats for submarine chasers, and some did not understand what lay behind it. The timeliness of the scheme may now seem more apparent. We should not wait for war to anticipate the tactics of a possible enemy, and whether against Germany or England or Japan or any other power we should perfect our coast defences so as to meet possible attacks from any quarter. We shall have to take a new interest in the steel nets, coast guns and long range battleships.

The coming of the German submarine will also bring new worries to the allies as it will open up possibilities of unforeseen attacks on allied warships and on freight ships outside of the three mile limit. If some day a Bremen should come convoyed by ships like that which started Newport last Saturday, the cruisers waiting outside the three-mile line will not hold sway unchallenged. What happens there is beyond our jurisdiction provided in international law is respected.

News of the sinking of nine vessels by the submarine which put into Newport last Saturday, aided by one or two others, has furnished an unexpected development in the submarine policy of Germany and has brought its naval horrors to our very doors. If Germany perfects the service she will not let the ships of the allies leave our ports and the allies will not let ships into German or other enemy ports. It looks now as though submarine warfare has been resumed on a larger scale than ever and the complications that this country finds itself in are obvious. If German submarines sink only ships of the allies and give sufficient warning and time for passengers and crew to escape, it looks as though the German government can defend the operations of their submarines even in sight of the American coast. Putting aside the chance of trouble with the United States, the development of German undersea campaign on this side might be more serious for England than submarine operations of the English or French coast. The danger for Germany will be in so interfering with American rights or interests that our government will demand the withdrawal of her submarines from our shores or a modification that would limit their effectiveness.

REGISTER AND VOTE

In every city there are to be found individuals who, through sheer indifference, neglect to register and must stay away from the polls on election day. They believe to be sure in democracy and will enthuse about the American system but they never apply it to their own peculiar case. Others who are on the voting lists will not make the effort necessary to get their vote on the ballot and yet they are among the inveterate critics of political conditions. It is not a healthy state of affairs when leading men declare in favor of a statute to make voting obligatory, but the suggestion has been made and seriously. A better idea might be to disbar those who deliberately stay away from the polling booth for a certain number of elections.

The board of registrars of voters have issued their notice to the people of Lowell that their office will be open this evening and at intervals until Wednesday, Oct. 18, which shall be the last chance to register. All who have not been assessed and who would otherwise have the right to vote at the coming state election should present themselves at city hall and get on the lists while there is time. The vote at the primaries, while better than expected, was not what it ought to have been but this should be corrected on election day. There is absolutely no excuse for an American citizen who so far forgets his duty as to remain away from a intervention still President Wilson held out and now the whole question on which many thousands of lives might have been lost in intervention is being settled peacefully by a commission representing this country and Mexico. This is one of the greatest triumphs of President Wilson's diplomacy.

TALKS TO CHILDREN

A wise observance of fire prevention day is the growing practice of assigning firemen to speak to the children in the various schools of the city. A great many fires are started by the carelessness of the young so the talks have a direct application but still more important is the educational effect. Children are easily impressed by what looks like authority and the sight of a city employee in uniform in the school leaves a strong picture in the mind. Moreover, the youngsters will talk the matter over at home and carry into the life of the family a little of what they have learned.

In other cities this idea of bringing fire life home to children is being amplified and excellent results are reported. In sections of New York, for instance, police officers visit the schools occasionally and urge the children to co-operate with them in obeying the laws and keeping the city crimeless. This might be done advantageously everywhere, and if it were done children might look upon the police as friends rather than as something to be shamed and dreaded. In time of special precautions, like that we have just passed through, members of the board of health or city physicians might with advantage visit the schools and give special instructions to the children. While there is some danger that this however, it can scarcely be said that we have as yet reached that point, and the success of the experiment so far recommends its extension.

"Molly, love," said Molly's smart mother. "I do hope, when we're at Mrs. Jinson's this afternoon, that you won't think of letting out that terrible story about the poor, dear minister's wife that we heard yesterday."

"Oh, of course not, mother! It would be so wicked, as well as ungenerous. I shouldn't dream of speaking evil of anyone."

"Quite right, my dear—quite right! You always have such nice feelings about everything! Besides, I want to tell Mrs. Jinson myself!"

WILSON'S MEXICAN TRIUMPH

The onslaught of the German U-boats off Nantucket brings home to the American people the horrors of war and how easily this country might be drawn into the terrible conflict.

The republican orators are making one of their strongest issues out of the fact that this country did not intervene in Mexico. Nevertheless, there is no single thing for which the democratic administration deserves more credit than for the policies by which it kept out of war with Mexico. The policy of "watchful waiting" and the fencing with Mexico by which war was avoided and arbitration finally established enabled this nation to maintain the good will of the South American countries and at the same time to remain in a position of readiness to deal with any of the European countries that might trample upon American rights.

As events progressed we became involved in a controversy with Germany in which that country was forced to yield in face of our actual threat of war. Had we been engaged in a war with Mexico when the Lusitania was sunk, Germany would have paid no attention to our protests knowing that we could not afford to go to war with any European nation while fighting Mexico. What a sorry spectacle we should have been had our hands been tied with Mexico when the submarine policy was at its worst?

Thus it appears that while we have had considerable trouble with Mexico and while capitalists and faction leaders did all in their power to bring on

HUB POLICE HOLD FEEL LIKE A NEW HOLLIS DECLARES PERSON

After Taking Only One Box of "Fruit-a-lives"

EAST SHIP HARBOUR,

"It is with great pleasure that I write to tell you of the wonderful benefits I have received from taking "Fruit-a-lives". For years, I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches, and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicines seemed to help me. Then I finally tried "Fruit-a-lives" and the effect was splendid. After taking one box, I feel like a new person, to have relief from those sickening Headaches".

Mrs. MARTHA DEWOLFE,

50c, a box, for $2.50, trial size, 25c.
At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Told the reporter the matter to the police.

Mrs. MacLeod said that on one occasion her daughter Eleanor was placed under observation at the Psychopathic hospital but that the officials there stated that they could find nothing wrong with her mental condition.

Mrs. Frank C. Friend of Hill Broadway was responsible for the arrest.

She found the girl as the latter was making a search of her parlor shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

When asked why she was there the girl tried to offer an excuse and then became hysterical. Mrs. Friend at once notified the police and Lieut. Kennedy soon arrived at the house.

After questioning the girl the officer took her to the police station. When she was pressed with questions she became hysterical and this made it difficult for the police to get much information. Finally she broke down and consented to point out the houses she had entered.

She indicated the home of Mrs. Lizzie Ayer of 436 Bedford street, Somerville, which was entered Aug. 15. The thief ransacked several rooms of the house and carried away $571, which she found in a bag in one of the rooms. A member of the household was suspected, as it was deemed impossible for an outsider to enter the house without the occupants discovering them. The money stolen included four $100 bills.

Careful pals show that Illinois women are for Wilson in the ratio of 5 to 2. Over 1,000,000 women will vote in the state this fall, so that the democrats may expect to get 625,000 of the votes, leaving 375,000 to the republicans. This majority of 250,000 is more than the republicans can hope to offset by male voters.

Michigan will be for Wilson on the peace and eight-hour issues. The automobile industry has brought hundreds of thousands of mechanics into the state, most of whom are for Wilson. Henry Ford's declaration for Wilson has aroused Michigan. Ford is a popular idol in the state.

In Wisconsin the republicans are as badly split as they were four years ago. The La Follette and Phillips wings are fighting tooth and nail.

Republican senators and congressmen are supporting Wilson measures and explaining why they voted for them in congress. YESTERDAY HOTTEST OCT.

WEST IS FOR PRES. WILSON

DERRY, N. H., Oct. 10.—At the democratic rally last night the Opera House was filled. A band headed the street parade and at the rally Attorney Fredrick J. Grady presided.

The speakers included T. H. Madigan, chairman of the Democratic club of Manchester; Frank N. Young of Derry, candidate for state senator; Samuel Emery of Portsmouth, candidate for county solicitor, and United States Senator Henry F. Hollis of Concord.

"The west is for Wilson," said Mr. Hollis. "He is stronger than his party, and he will sweep the country from the Alleghenies to the Golden Gate."

"The election is quite likely to turn on the result in Illinois, which will be easily democratic. Roger Sullivan and the Cook county democracy are enthusiastic for Wilson; they have buried their differences with Gov. Dunne (a democrat), and assure the Wilson managers of 100,000 majority in Cook county. This would give the state to the democrats by 10,000 in normal times.

"But the times are not normal. The only weak spot in the democratic array is the German vote, which will go to Hughes by a large majority unless Roosevelt makes a few more offensive speeches such as he made at Battle Creek. I am informed that the republican managers are trying to 'can' Roosevelt, but he does not submit gracefully.

"But 70 per cent of the German vote is republican ordinarily, and the democrats are not likely to lose more than half of their 30 per cent, and this will be more than made up by the railroad and labor vote, which is almost solid for Wilson."

"At a meeting of republicans at East St. Louis, Ill., last week, it was conceded that Wilson would run at least 100,000 votes ahead of Gov. Dunne, on account of the woman vote. Women vote in Illinois for president, but not for governor.

Careful pals show that Illinois women are for Wilson in the ratio of 5 to 2. Over 1,000,000 women will vote in the state this fall, so that the democrats may expect to get 625,000 of the votes, leaving 375,000 to the republicans. REGISTRATION OPENED AT PEOPLE'S CLUB

HEADQUARTERS COMPANY OF SIXTH REGT. HERE

The headquarters company of the Sixth regiment, M.V.M., will in the future be stationed in this city. This company includes the band, mounted orderlies and non-commissioned staff.

The mounted orderlies will number 20 and it is probable that a riding school for their benefit will be established at the state armory in Methuen. The establishment of the company in Lowell will mean that there will be an opportunity here for 20 young men to enlist in the mounted orderly section and take up this interesting branch of the work.

Recruits who desire to enlist with the Sixth regiment for this purpose should apply at once either to Major Colby T. Kittredge or Lieut. Harry G. Sheldon. Although the headquarters company is virtually under the command of the regimental adjutant, Capt. Philip Schuyler, Lieut. Sheldon has been placed in temporary command in Lowell.

REGISTRATION OPENED AT PEOPLE'S CLUB

Registration for the dressmaking, embroidery, military, sewing and cooking classes of the women's branch of the People's Club, opened last evening in the Rumens building and over 200 applications were received.

Registration will continue every evening until 9 o'clock up to Nov. 1, when the classes start.

The total number of pupils last year was 1152.

At the annual meeting of the club directors held last evening, A. G. Cummins was re-elected president, and Miss Grace A. Wood and Henry A. Smith were re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively. The names of the other officers and committees will be announced at a later date.

The club has had a most successful and encouraging year. The report of the treasurer showed receipts of $3024, with expenditures of $8551.45.

The reading room for men and the lectures held during the past season were largely attended, and the classes of the women's branch had over 1900 members as previously stated.

PRES. WILSON TAKES UP THE U-BOAT QUESTION

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 10.—Pres. Wilson gave his entire attention today to considering facts collected by the navy department regarding German submarine attacks on merchantmen off the American coast. He had intended going to Brooklyn for the third baseball game of the world's series, but changed his plans to devote himself to the foreign affairs of the nation.

The president shut himself in his study this morning and went carefully over all the evidence collected so far. While this evidence was not given out, there was every indication that the president has received no information necessitating drastic action by the American government.

Lansing Confers With President

The president had on his program today conference with Secretary Lansing and Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States. Mr. Lansing will not come until late this afternoon and will take dinner with the president and remain at Shadow Lawn over night. Ambassador Jusserand has a personal letter from President Poincaré of France to Mr. Wilson on Polish relief, but it was expected that the new German submarine activities would be discussed.

Blockade of Our Ports

It was not believed that the American government would take any immediate action on developments to date in the renewal of German submarine activities, but serious consideration was given to the question of whether attacks on merchantmen so near the American coast do not constitute a virtual blockade of American ports.

Gerard to See President

James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, who arrived in New York today from Germany, is not expected to see Pres. Wilson until next week. It was stated authoritatively here that Mr. Gerard does not come on any peace mission and that his trip has no connection with submarine warfare, but that he is simply on a vacation.

Other Conferences

President Wilson plans to leave Shadow Lawn tomorrow afternoon for Indianapolis where he will speak twice on Thursday afternoon. The fact that he had shown no indication of cancelling the Indianapolis engagement was taken as a sign that so far he does not consider the submarine situation critical.

In addition to his diplomatic conferences today, the president had an engagement to take lunch with William F. McCombs, democratic nominee for United States senator from New York. Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee, also was expected here for a conference.

The meeting of President Wilson and Mr. Combs was the first since Mr. Combs refused to accept another term as chairman of the democratic national committee.

GERARD AND BERNSTORFF MEET

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Secretary of State Lansing, James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany, and Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States all were in New York today and the two ambassadors were registered at the same hotel.

The secretary said today in answer to questions as to whether he would confer with either ambassador: "I have no appointments today." There were rumors that Ambassador Gerard might accompany the secretary to Long Branch.

LANSING OFF FOR LONG BRANCH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Secretary Lansing left here last night for New York on his way to the summer White House at Long Branch, N. J., to confer with President Wilson on the submarine raids in the western Atlantic.

It was regarded as possible that Mr. Lansing might see Ambassador Gerard who reached New York this morning from Germany before the ambassador proceeds to report to the president.

Nevertheless, it was authoritatively stated here that Secretary Lansing had not made his trip at this time or gone by way of New York because of the ambassador's arrival. He expects to meet Ambassador Gerard at the summer White House, however, and at the conference with the president now

The cortège proceeded to St. Patrick's church where, at 9 o'clock, a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. James Kerrigan. There were many beautiful floral tributes including a pillow inscribed to Mrs. James Gennell, Mrs. Mary Costello, Miss Margaret Costello and Mr. James Gennell and friends from the girls of the Appleton cloth room, Mr. and Mrs. John Queenan and family, Mr. John Queenan, and Mr. and Mrs. John Queenan, Sr., John Queenan, Thomas Queenan and Patrick Kerrigan. CREW MISSING

Continued

There was no confirmation from any sources by wireless and in fact the report was officially denied.

As the men had been absent for more than 35 hours in open boats and probably without food or adequate clothing, the anxiety on the part of the destroyers to locate them became more intense, especially as the weather last night was extremely cold.

If the experience of the crews of five other vessels sunk by the U-boat held in the case of the Kingstonian, its crew put out in small boats without food or water and was in no condition to face hours of suffering.

No additional information bearing on the submarine raid had reached the radio station here this morning. Wireless stations which are usually kept busy with reports of the position of vessels approaching New York were silent, and it was said that vessels generally were avoiding the danger zone.

It was reported that the sea in the vicinity of the lightship was strewn with the wreckage of the ships that were torpedoed on Sunday.

The last of the destroyers sent out Sunday to search for the crews of torpedoed vessels reached the harbor on Monday, reporting the weather was rough outside. They were unable to add nothing to the information regarding the Kingstonian, which the SOS call announced that ship had been attacked.

The newspaper expressed the opinion that the submarine campaign of the American coast is the last touch to a situation which is becoming impossible owing to the sinking of Scandinavian and other neutral ships. They declare that neutrals must find a way to act as the navigation of the whole world is affected.

"Germany," the Gaulois says, "is convinced that by extending the field of aggression to American waters she will bring about a peace movement in the United States. She imagines that American merchants and the big trusts, seeing their overseas trade paralyzed, will demand that Washington intervene for peace or force Great Britain to loosen the blockade. Berlin believes that with the elections approaching, President Wilson will give way."

DEATHS

MOORE—Mrs. M. Jennie Moore died yesterday at her home in Pelham, N. H., aged 77 years. She leaves her husband, Alton Moore. She was a member of the Congregational church of Pelham Centre.

He was a regular attendant at St. Michael's church. He is survived by his wife, Margaret; four sons, John J. of Burlington, Vt., Michael B., Edward P. and Augustus W.; four daughters, Mrs. James Stanton of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. A. Hyde, Bride, Mrs. W. G. Fred C. McKeon, and four sisters, Mrs. James Farwell, Mrs. Julia Coleman of Cincinnati, Ohio; Harry Kelly of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. May Welch of Salem.

direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

U-53 DISAPPEARS

Increased Precautions Taken by Owners and Agents of Vessels of Entente Nations

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A day and night without further news of the U-53 has not quieted the anxiety in shipping circles caused by the activities of the submarine commerce raider in sinking merchant steamers at the head of the great North Atlantic highway on Nantucket. If anything, the disappearance of the German U-boat and the mystery regarding her present location increased the precautions taken by owners and agents of vessels of the entente nations.

Trans-Atlantic liners and freight steamers approached this port today by courses which carried them far out of the customary lane.

Among vessels due here from European ports today are the Paris from Piraeus; Byawik from Rotterdam; Belgrader from Marseilles; Lincolnsdale from Havre; Agios Georgios from Genoa; Lancaster from London; Delta from Amsterdam; Buffalo from Hull; Meuse from Bordeaux, and Verdi from Liverpool.

Sailings Are Delayed

The Atlantic Transport Line steamer Manchaha is due to leave here today for London with freight, while the British steamer Strathaird may leave for Bristol and the Black Prince, British, for Rio Janeiro.

The Cunard liner Orkuna with a large number of passengers and the White Star liner Cedric are heading toward New York from British ports but are not expected to arrive off Nantucket for several days.

Louis Costa, manager of the Pierres line, which yesterday delayed the departure of the steamer San Guglielmo, said he would give no advance notice as to when the vessel would sail, as he believed German agents in this city were keeping the U-53 informed as to when the movements of the vessels of the entente nations here.

WH Check Shipments

Exporters here say the submarine raid and the consequent advance of the insurance rates on trans-Atlantic transportation amounting in some cases to 600 per cent, will check shipments from New York to European ports.

May Revise Embargo

There was talk of a revival of a rail-road embargo on freight but no new action was taken.

American importers are, in part, prepared for an interruption of trans-Atlantic trade which might result from submarine raids, it was learned today.

In anticipation of a shortage of European goods they have placed in bonded warehouses on the Atlantic coast foreign merchandise valued at about $100,000,000. They began to store this supply soon after the outbreak of the war. If the German raids continue the American merchants will draw on this accumulation of stocks.

Hill Supply in U. S. Stockhouses

This supply included, it was estimated, coal tar colors valued at $50,000; woolen goods worth $1,500,000; linens worth $2,000,000; furs worth $500,000, and a wide variety of other imported stock worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Esparta Arrives

United Fruit Company's steamer Arived on Boston from Port Limon, Costa Rica.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—The United Fruit company's steamer Esparta, which was reported last night as overdue, arrived today from Port Limon, Costa Rica. It was learned that she was a day later than her schedule in leaving the Central American port so that she did not pass the Nantucket lightship until after the period in which the German submarine was busy sinking steamers.

Several British steamers are loading freight here for European ports, but it was thought that none would be ready to sail today.

"BLACKMAIL" AND "DEFIANCE"

Headings in Paris Papers On Articles About Submarining Campaign On American Coast

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Under the headings of "Blackmail" and "Defiance" the morning newspapers print in prominent positions every scrap of news obtainable about the submarine campaign on the American coast, accompanied by plentiful comment.

The general sentiment of the press is that Germany is challenging the United States with a conviction that the challenge will not be taken up and that neutrals must see to it that they acted unwisely in not "nipping" the submarine warfare in commerce in the bud. The newspapers express the opinion that the submarine campaign of the American coast is the last touch to a situation which is becoming impossible owing to the sinking of Scandinavian and other neutral ships. They declare that neutrals must find a way to act as the navigation of the whole world is affected.

"Germany," the Gaulois says, "is convinced that by extending the field of aggression to American waters she will bring about a peace movement in the United States. She imagines that American merchants and the big trusts, seeing their overseas trade paralyzed, will demand that Washington intervene for peace or force Great Britain to loosen the blockade. Berlin believes that with the elections approaching, President Wilson will give way."

MEGAPHONE SERVICE OF THE WORLD'S SERIES

Thousands of fans jammed Merrimack square yesterday, from curb to curb, and listened to the Sun megaphone man make his announcements of the great 14-inning battle between the Boston Red Sox and the Brooklyn Dodgers. During the early part of the afternoon the crowd was quite large, but when it was announced that the game had gone into extra innings the multitude began to increase, and before the final play was given the square was a solid mass of humanity. The audience was a very enthusiastic one, and the announcements of the many feature plays executed during the progress of the game were loudly cheered. The plan of one man doing the announcing proved very successful and all were well pleased with the service. Today the Courier-Citizen man megaphoned the game and tomorrow The Sun man will continue.

The Sun extra, giving a play by play account of the game, which appears on the street just a few minutes after the result is announced, is making a great hit with the fans. Later the 7 o'clock edition of The Sun appears with the detailed account of the game and the official box score.

U. S. BUNTING ATHLETIC CARNIVAL

The committee in charge of the eighth athletic carnival of the United States Bunting Cricket club and Athletic association to be held in conjunction with Lowell's parade and celebration of Columbus day expects a record-breaking crowd as the program of sports is one of the finest ever offered on a holiday. It was announced today that cars will have Central and Church streets for Bunting park over 10 minutes during the passing of the parade. Over 100 well known runners have entered the 12-mile marathon race from the Vesper Country club grounds to Bunting park. The track will be circled five times so that the people at the park will be able to see the best part of the race. A fine program of track events will be carried out with three prizes for each event.

RED FAY, CARMEN'S LEADER, IS DEAD

WAS GENERAL ORGANIZER OF AMALGAMATED ASSOCIATION OF STREET RAILWAY EMPLOYEES

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Early last evening Fred Fay, one of the leaders of the big strike of Boston elevated employees in this city in 1912, died at his home on Sedgwick street, Jamaica Plain. His death resulted from a complication of diseases, due, it is said, to overwork in behalf of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, of which he was for many years a general organizer.

Mr. Fay was a very energetic man and the work he did for the Boston street car men, sometimes prolonged to 24 hours at a stretch, was phenomenal.

GERARD REFUSES FIGHTING SOUTH OF SOMME TO DISCUSS PEACE TALK

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, upon his arrival here today, declined either to affirm or deny published reports that he was returning to the United States on a peace mission on behalf of the emperor of Germany.

Mr. Gerard's attention was called to a story which appeared this morning in the New York World to the effect that his errand was to inform the administration that a resumed submarine activity is being considered by Germany in a manner which might threaten German-American relations. Mr. Gerard, after quickly glancing through this story, said:

"You don't see me quoted anywhere in it, do you?"

Mr. Gerard said in response to a question that there are about 3000 Americans in Germany at this time, of whom about 700 are in Berlin.

The Scandinavian-American Henry Frederick VIII, on which Mr. Gerard arrived, was set at quarantine by a municipal police boat on which was Mayor Mitchell's reception committee, headed by Oscar S. Straus. Mrs. Gerard, who accompanied the ambassador, was presented with a large bouquet of American beauty roses as she came aboard the police boat.

HEIRLINE PAPER URGED REICHSTAG COMMITTEE FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 9, via London, Oct. 10.—The Berlin Voorwaerts incurred the most recent order for its suppression by advocating the appointment of a reichstag committee for foreign affairs, according to Berlin despatches received here.

The Voorwaerts said that if the proposal was adopted the antagonists of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg would have an opportunity to ask for his dismissal. It added that the vote would show what the relishing thinks of Germany's war aims. The article concluded: "This again proves the necessity of Germany having a system of parliamentary government."

UNCERTAINTY AS TO ATTITUDE OF REICHSTAG ON THE SUB-MARINE QUESTION

BERLIN, Oct. 9, via London, Oct. 10.—Declarations and counter-declarations regarding the attitude of the center party toward the submarine question, the burning issue of the day, leaves the situation extremely foggy.

There is a cloud of uncertainty as to how the clerical members of the reichstag, who hold the balance of power, will vote on the decisive ballot regarding the conduct of the war.

The Cologne Volks Zeitung, representing one branch of the Prussian centre, declares that the centrist members of the reichstag are in no wise convinced by the arguments against submarine warfare, particularly by the statistical plead of Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the interior. On the other hand, the centrist parliamentary correspondence—the recognized publicity bureau of the centrist reichstag group—declares completely unjustified the announcement of the Lokal Anzeiger, that enough clerical deputies have broken away to give a majority perhaps to the side favoring ruthless submarine war.

"We would emphasize," says the bureau, "that the centrist's declarations and the attitude of its members in committee are in complete accord. The situation is to be interpreted solely as an aim to define precisely the responsibility of the chancellor before the reichstag on the political aspects of the question of ruthless submarine war. The supreme military command and therefore ultimately Field Marshal von Hindenburg is alone competent to pass upon the military side of the entire question. It is wrong, however, to deduce from this attitude of the centrist members of the committee a rapprochement with that group which demands ruthless submarine warfare under all circumstances.

The bureau says that the centrist is endeavoring to harmonize contending standpoints, feeling that the controversy over the submarine issue, unless terminated, will have lamentable effects on popular sentiment.

Duffy's Value in Diabetes

Some time ago Van Noorden, the celebrated scientist, startled the medical world with the announcement that Diabetes cases could be successfully treated with whiskey. And now comes the Rockefeller Institute with the statement that whiskey has been used by them for several months with great success for Diabetes—a more common disease than is generally supposed. Many people have it and don't know it, and it is more dangerous in youth than old age, because it inclines its victims to all sorts of diseases. Hence the importance of an absolutely pure medicinal product such as to be used in connection with the diet your physician recommends. Here is an absolutely true statement from a grateful user, sworn to before a Notary Public:

"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and it does me a great amount of good and I highly recommend it to any one troubled with Diabetes. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was recommended to me by a trained nurse, and since my first trial I am so pleased with the result that I am never without it. I can truly recommend it as prescribed to all who are afflicted by Diabetes!"—Mrs. Theresa Winterstein, 189 E. 10th Street, New York City.

Now no claims for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey are ever put forth that have not been proven in actual practice, neither do unprejudiced physicians ever hesitate to recommend this valuable remedy to all those whose systems need building up, for Duffy's is a most excellent and invigorating tonic stimulant. A tablespoonful in equal amounts of water or milk before meals and on retiring, benefits the digestion and assists assimilation, enabling thousands to Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly everyone experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach foul gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock the system.

The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with syrup that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the state legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup.

He finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild yet positive, in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is rec-

WIRE THIEVES ARE ARRAIGNED IN POLICE COURT

J. Kennedy to apprehend one of the men, Bergeron, last Friday. At that time Bergeron had a bag containing some of the handling wire, a saw, an ax, a chisel and other implements. Yesterday Patrolman Kennedy arrested Avard.

When questioned in the police station this morning, both men admitted that they had committed larceny and said they sold the wire to Byaski. The latter, however, denied that he had any transaction with the two men.

The trio will be brought before Judge Enright for trial tomorrow morning.

Withdrew Her Appeal

Ella Roberts was arrested on the North common by Patrolman Bagley last night. The woman said she was not drunk at the time, but the officer said she was so drunk it was necessary for him to carry her to the box. Sergeant Ryan corroborated the testimony offered by the arresting officer. The defendant was sentenced to three months in jail. She appealed and after being brought downstairs withdrew her appeal.

Held For Superior Court

Joseph Berube and Alice Stomas who appeared in court yesterday on complaints charging them with a statutory offense, were brought before Judge Enright this morning but after the court learned that a more serious charge had been preferred against the man held him under $500 for his appearance before the superior court. The woman was given a suspended sentence to Sherborn.

Three Months In Jail

Joseph Graham was charged with the larceny of a coat and after admitting his guilt was sentenced to three months in jail.

Violated Traffic Rules

Panor Ginteres was charged with a violation of the city ordinance by allowing his automobile to remain standing in Central street for more than 20 minutes. He admitted his guilt but owing to extenuating circumstances the case was placed on file.

Murder Was Cut Out

James F. Jones was charged with operating an automobile which made unnecessary noise by reason of the muffler being cut out. Jones said that the muffler was out of order and he could not stop the noise, that he had it repaired the following morning and paid $3 for the necessary repairs. Owing to the circumstances Judge Enright gave the defendant a chance to prove that he did not intentionally violate the law and continued the case until Saturday.

Soldier Returns to Fort

A young man who is stationed at Fort Banks, but who has been enjoying a furlough, was arrested in Middlesex street last night by Patrolman Cullen, but when the court learned that he would go directly back to the fort he was given his release.

Drunkards Offenders

There were several drunken offenders. Some were sent to the state farm others to jail and the remainder were either placed on probation or given small fines.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

There will be a special meeting of the school committee at 8:30 o'clock this evening to act on matters connected with the evening schools and to pass upon whatever other school matters that are ready for the attention of the committee.

The jury in the case of Rosie and Edward Lightman vs. the Bay State Street Railway Co., an action of tort in the sum of $4000, this morning rendered a sealed verdict for the plaintiffs, $35 for the woman and $37 for the man. In this case the plaintiff sought to recover for injuries sustained by Mr. Lightman while she was a passenger on a car between Lowell and Reading.

The next case to go to trial was that of Wetzel Bros. vs. Daniel Cleary, an action of contract by which the plaintiffs seek to recover the sum of $123 for plumbing work done in the home of the defendant, James J. Kerwin for the plaintiff and J. Joseph O'Connor for the defendant.

THREE RACES
YESTERDAY

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 10.—Mabel Trask had an easy time winning the Castleton Cup for 2.07 trotters and scoring her seventh victory of the season over St. Frisco at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association meeting here yesterday. Mabel Trask took the race in straight heats.

St. Frisco with Geers driving, divided second and third money with Donnie Clay. The fastest time of the race was 2.04½.

Geers, after an illness of several weeks because of injuries suffered at Columbus, also drove De Revere one heat in the Chapman Futurity for 1-year-old trotters, but drew after she finished lame. Geers was applauded when he made his first appearance on the track.

The card today looked like a Walter W. Cox program, as he won the first three races and one heat of the fourth. He captured the first race with Tunsgada, Goward Allerton and Whimie Lockhard each winning a heat, however; won the four-year-old champion trotting futurity with Mary Putney.

Allie Watts had taken the first two heats; drove Mabel Trask to victory in the Castleton Cup race and was behind Camelia who won the second heat of the unfinished 2.07 race.

Vulga, carded to start to beat 2.04½, the world's record for three-year-old mares, and Roan Hal to beat 2.00½ pacing, did not start because of the weather conditions.

A free-for-all pace worth $1200, with Single G. Russell, Boy Ben Earl, Roan Hal, Anna Bradford, Braden Dure and Hal Boy entered was announced for Wednesday. The summary:

RINK ROCKS WITH CHEERS
WHEN SOX WIN GAME

When Gainer, pinch-hitting for Gardner, made that historic hit that scored speedy McNally from second with the winning run of that memorable 14-inning game yesterday, the Rollaway rink rocked with enthusiasm. Just as that clout was made at Braves field, Boston, the wire connection on the electrical score board at the rink blazed the play. The fans here realized that Boston had made it two straight and the cheer that went up could be heard great distance from the scene. In fact during the entire game plays were greeted with cheers and yells that made one forget that there was not at the ball grounds and so realistic was every detail that the desire to shout became contagious and when the final play was enacted "everybody was doing it." The board is

GAME BETWEEN RED SOX AND BROOKLYNSFEATURES OF SOX GREAT
14 INNING VICTORY

(By Sporting Editor of The Sun.)

The marvelous defensive work of the Red Sox champions, recognized by even followers of their rivals as one of the greatest baseball machines ever put together, loomed up many times in huge proportions yesterday when Boston beat Brooklyn in the longest world's series game ever played. Victory came homeward at the end of the 14th inning just as darkness was about to envelop Braves field, where nearly 42,000 fans for two hours and 22 minutes had watched the most thrilling game in world's series history, if not in the entire history of baseball.

NOTES OF GAME

Two hours and a half filled with thrilling plays in a world's championship game is worth going miles to see.

The record for a world's series game previous to yesterday was a 13-inning game played between the Cubs and Detroit.

Another inning might have been played but it is doubtful. Darkness was shadowing the field and there was rain in the air. Carrigan undoubtedly made his final shifts figuring that the game would be called.

It was announced during the 14th inning that in the event of a tie the teams would remain in Boston until two games had been decided.

At least eight souvenirs were taken away from the park. They were baseball bats that had been knocked into the bleachers or stands.

Umpire Quigley robbed Myers of a hit by a decision at first base that wasn't even close. Ty Cobb and Christy Mathewson, who were again in the press box, laughed when the ump called him out.

Babe Ruth may have pitched better than he did in the first few innings but he never finished stronger. Not a hit was made off him after the eighth inning.

Hooper made a hard effort to reach Myers' home run drive, diving into the air. Hooper did not have a chance.

With Lewis on first Gardner had a hard one to Mowrey which deflected to Olson. The latter tossed to Cutshaw and Lewis was called out.

Even bad Cutshaw fielded Ruth's grounder perfectly instead of juggling it once it is probable that Scott would have scored with the first run.

Scott led his teammates at bat with a triple and Janvrin's double were other extra base Red Sox hits.

Olson was jeered for interfering with Thomas after the latter's long hit to left which Wheat tried hard to field but failed. Olson stood on the baseline and Thomas ran him and fell down. He was lucky to get back to second ahead of the ball and waved to the crowd the interference and waved him to third.

Walker's great throw after handling Miller's single in the eighth held Mowrey at third and prevented Brooklyn from taking the lead.

Brooklyn rooters held their breath in the ninth when with none out and Janvrin on third Hoblitzel hit a long fly to Myers. A great throw relieved their suspense, however.

After catching a fly to deep center Walker made an exhibition throw which was caught by Thomas without moving from his tracks and Tilly was given a great hand.

As the game went into extra innings the fielding of Gardner and Scott proved even more sensational and it was then decided that only another home run would win for Brooklyn.

Hoblitzel made a great running catch of a foul fly in the 11th. It was a catch similar to those Hal Chase used to make.

There were few strike-outs considering the length of the game. Ruth was the only Boston man to fan but he batted twice. Four of the Dodgers brieved.

The noise was so loud when Brooklyn was in the field in the 11th that Manager Robinson appealed to the umpires to request the Royal Rooters band to stop playing. The leader agreed to stop while the teams were in the field but the clapping and cheering from the bleachers was even louder than the band.

Hoblitzel, who is supposed to be weak against southpaws, walked four times yesterday.

CHARLIE SHEPPARD TO
MEET NEW YORK BOXER

Charlie Sheppard, Lowell's sensational featherweight, will meet Kid Sullivan of New York at the Commercial Club, Boston, Friday evening, Oct. 20. Sheppard is going like a house on fire, and his services are in demand throughout New England. In fact many offers have been received by his manager from New York and Halifax. His recent successes have appealed to many matemachines and the indications are that he will have a busy winter season. His exhibition against Chas. Miller in Boston last Friday night showed that he possessed considerable gameness and retaliatory powers. He was dropped in the first round, but came back strong and with remarkable work piled up enough points in the remaining rounds to win the decision. He is training here for the bout next week and reports that he was never in better condition in his life.

Del Gainer Won Game

Del Gainer was probably the most talked of man in Boston last night. He had a chance to sail into the limelight as a result of one of Carrigan's famous shifts, that have won many games. In the 14th inning Smith temporarily lost the plate in the darkness and passed Hoblitzel. Lewis sacrificed back Gardner, a left handed batter, and sent in Gainer. He also sent Mike McNally in second to run for Hoblitzel. With one and one called, Gainer swung his club against a plate cutter and the sphere sped between Mowrey and Olsen to left field. With a strike like a deer McNally rounded third base toward home and slid over the plate just ahead of Wheat's throw-in which was by no means per-

SUN

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—With the bat for the premier baseball honor of the year transferred from Boston to Brooklyn today the baseball enthusiasm of Greater New York leaped by the thousands to Elbets field to view the world's series from a new angle. The morning broke cool and breezy, with the promise of a day more suited to work on the gridiron than on the diamond.

Latte in Ranching Grounds

The ticket holders to the games to be played on the Flatbush diamond—there were more than 20,000 of them before the rush to the grounds started—were not over-impatient to get to the playing field and the Brooklyn traction lines were easily able to take care of their forenoon patrons. Long before game time there was every indication that the stadium, at the call of play, would be filled to the limit of its 26,000 capacity. The playing field itself had been smoothed down for the occasion. Gaily decorated with bunting, it was flanked on three sides by the accommodations for the spectators, additional seats to the number of 2000 having been provided in stands stretching along the left field fence.

"Crucial" Game Today

The struggle of the day, coming after the two desperate encounters in Boston which left the Brooklyns without a victory and gave the Red Sox a commanding lead in the battle for the title, promised to be perhaps the "crucial" game of the series.

On familiar ground after the loss of two games away from home the Dodgers figured in the calculations of ardent Brooklynes as likely to gather sufficient inspiration from congenital surroundings to give them the edge they lacked in the Braves field encounters. A pair of reverses by single run margins, in one of which five extra innings were required to subdue them was not looked upon as an indication that the National leaguers were outclassed and doomed to certain defeat. Nevertheless it was realized that today's battle might virtually decide the series, as another setback would force the Robins to the wall where a single thrust would mean their downfall.

Pitching Selections

With their starter likely to be Leonard, another left hander who when in shape is one of the hardest twirlers in the profession to hit, few of the Red Sox routers could see much chance for anything but a third victory with another to follow with Shore or Mays on the morrow.

Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyns, as usual gave no hint of his pitching selection, but "Iron Man" Jack Coombs was looked upon as his probable choice, with Marquard in a come-back effort as a possibility.

The members of the Brooklyn team, who spent the night, after their evening trip from Boston, at their homes near the Flatbush arena, were at the grounds early to listen to a few words of counsel from Manager Robinson. The Boston, who came over at the same hour as their rivals, passed the night at a hotel in Manhattan.

Journal Not Remarkable

There is nothing remarkable in the distance covered by the U-53. The remarkable thing is the escape from being caught by the allied warships and nets. Many submarines made in this country for the allies have sailed for England. We have made 1 boats for the government which can cross the Atlantic and come back again without taking on supplies. They can cruise within a 600 mile radius easily, but to stay and conduct a campaign after arriving there would be out of the question without means of getting supplies."

John Buchanan of the Fore River company expressed the belief that the British government will convoy the principal steamers leaving American ports into zones of safety on the other side.

"This latest move of Germany is too important for the British not to take action and I expect to see startling developments near the American coast in their efforts to put a stop to U-boats activities."

"There's no doubt the U-boats have a neutral supply ship at hand and it's up to the allies to get it."

Another expert on submarine construction well known in the ship building business, scouted the theory advanced that Germany has a submarine base in some isolated cove or some island along the coast, but expressed his opinion that Germany is probably using one or more of the merchant submarines of the Deutschland or the Bremen type to supply its war submarines with fuel, food and water.

PROHIBITS BULL FIGHTING IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10.—Gen. Carranza today published a decree prohibiting bull fighting throughout Mexico.

Bull fights are denounced in the decree as needlessly endangering the lives of men, torturing beasts, provoking sanguinary sentiment and disgracing the country. The first chief adds that bull fighting causes misery to the poor, who for moments' enjoyment, go without the necessities of life.

The penalty for infringing the decree is a fine of $1000 to $5000, imprisonment of two to six months, or both.

Dearth Penalty For Train Robbery

Another decree provides the death penalty for train robbery, highway robbery, attempt to stop trains, shooting at trains, burglary, cutting telephone or telegraph wires or any robbery by violence. Failure to report robberies, failure of the authorities to use their efforts to make arrests, failure to prosecute or failure to give testimony will be punished by imprisonment for from one to five years. The penalty for robbery without violence is set at five to ten years. Persons aiding the escape of robbers will be subject to the same penalty.

DETAILS OF 14 INNING BATTLE FLASHED 18,000 MILES FOR NEW TELEGRAPHIC FEAT

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—An unprecedented feat in the telegraphic transmission of news was accomplished by the traffic department of the Associated Press yesterday, when one operator, sitting in the stand at Braves Field, was enabled to bash over 15,000 miles of leased wire the story of how the Red Sox beat Brooklyn.

Taking dictation from the Associated Press representatives who were covering the game, this operator, J. A. Bates, through the telegraphic connections arranged for the service, was able to send the story to 300 Associated Press offices and newspapers in the United States, tick for tick, into

The operator sent the story over 35,000-mile circuit continuously for 2½ hours and at the instant McNally crossed the home plate with the winning run in the 14th inning, the flash "Boston wins" had gone the length and breadth of the country.

Wherefore in reporting world's series, the news had been relayed at Chicago and other points.

"It don't think it is at all likely that the Bremen or any other merchant submarine is being used for this purpose, although of course it is possible."

"As to the report that the U-53 was built on the eastern coast or that any similar craft is being assembled in this country I am sure that is false. There are so few manufacturers capable of building submarines that it could not be done without informa-

All aids detailed to the staff of the parade will report to the chief of staff not later than 8:30 a.m. or 90 minutes before the time of starting.

The parade will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock, and all organizations will be expected to be in their proper places at that time.

ESPAÑE WITH BERNHARDT ON BOARD ARRIVES—GERARD ARRIVES ON FREDERIK VIII

GERMAN SUBMARINE U 53,
ESPAÑE and CAPT. LAURENT
of the ESPAÑE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Scandinavian-American line steamer Frederik VIII, bringing James W. Gerard, the American ambassador to Germany and the Anchor Line's Cameronia arrived here today. The Frederik VIII came from Copenhagen and the Cameronia from Liverpool with 671 passengers. Both vessels had been awaiting with some anxiety on account of the German submarine menace.

The Cameronia was sighted off the Highlands of Naveenirk at 6:40 a.m. on All Hallows' Day except a small one on the foremast were extinguished, like those of the British cruisers which have been on guard of New York.

The Cameronia, a British vessel, received a wireless warning while on Nantucket on Sunday, that a German submarine was in the vicinity.

Life boats were swung out and life belts distributed among the 670 passengers and the ship abruptly turned her course to the south. Off Cape May the Cameronia entered the three mile neutrality limit, and, hugging the shore, steamed north, not once going outside the safety zone.

The Greek steamer Patriis upon her arrival here today from Mediterranean ports reported that she sighted a submarine during foggy weather off Nantucket at 5:30 a.m. Monday. The Patriis' captain said he tried to speak the U-boat in the Morse code but received no answer and his vessel proceeded un molested.

The French line steamer Espagne was safe in New York harbor early today.

Prominent among the passengers on board the steamship Espagne of the French line were Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, the actress; Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the opera singer; Mme. Maria Montessori, the educator, and McDougall Hawkes, president of the French institute of the United States.

The Espagne's commander is Capt. Laurent. Mme. Bernhardt left France to tour Canada and the United States. She arranged to make her first appearance at His Majesty's theatre in Montreal at McClure.

Richard Gay is a son of Samuel R. Gay of this city. The other boy's father is Fred Jameson. The youths were bound for Popo beach, Fairhaven, where they have been in the habit of spending nights in a shack. Both were riding on one bicycle.

Mr. Hawkes went abroad in August to study conditions in France. He had been invited by a member of the French chamber of deputies.

The Lafayette of the French line, which left Bordeaux on Oct. 7 for New York, has many notables on board.

Among them are Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Miss Anne Morgan, Miss Elizabeth Marbury, John Barrett, A. Patti Andrew, Enrico Caruso, Gatti Casazza, Frank A. Munsey and S. S.

Montessori's most recent previous visit to the United States was a year ago. She arrived in April, 1915, and went to California to teach school there for four months at the request of the board of education.
